Senator Dixon Says President's Brother Spent That Amount to Secure Nomination

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—When the men as well as the financial managers of the committee investigating the campaign of Senator Dixon, Col. Roosevelt's manager, told the committee he had been reliably informed that Thomas F. Ryan, a New York, last night in which he was called to the committee, he would ask the committee to call Chairman Charles D. Hilles of the republican national committee and Chairman McComb of the democratic committee. The senators pointed out that today they had been already and had been told that they would call these two and reports were received from the various sub-committees. The day finally set upon for the celebration, after considerable debate, was Sunday, Oct. 12. The reason for this decision is the fact that the committee chosen to interview the merchants with regard to closing the stores on this day could not make any report favorable to holding the event on Saturday. The greater number of merchants seemed to be in doubt as to whether or not they would close the stores on this day. The committee with the interviewers then furnished no assurance that the holiday will be observed.

The observance will open with a large mass Sunday morning and the meeting of the local council will be held in the church in a body. Dr. J. J. Sullivan, spiritual director of the organization, will be the celebrant and a sermon will be preached. In the evening a banquet will be served to the members and their lady friends and the evening will be in the hands of a local entertainment. A number of other speakers are expected to address the gathering and one man from New York, whose name will be given out later, has agreed to come.

LAWRENCE DEPENDS ON CONFERENCE WITH MILL MEN

LAWRENCE, Oct. 2.—Upon the outcome of a proposed conference between manufacturers and representatives of the Industrial Workers of the World today the question of a general strike in all of the Lawrence textile mills was believed to depend. Leaders of the Industrial Workers have asked the management of the mills to explain the discharge of Industrial Worker operatives yesterday when the workers returned to the factories at the conclusion of the 24-hour strike of protest.

The committee appointed last night by the Industrial Workers to investigate the charges that some of their members were being discriminated against planned a conference with mill officials. It was not known whether the agents of the mill would confer with the delegation. The central committee of Industrial Workers will meet tonight to discuss the situation and plans have been made to call mass meetings of the operatives in the event of an unsatisfactory answer from the management.

Twenty-eight thousand operatives went to work this morning. Many who were refused employment yesterday found work today. Some of those returning remained away yesterday for fear of violence. A number of operatives termed "undesirable" by the mill officials were turned away again.

SCARCELY 400 PERSONS TURNED OUT IN PARADE OF STRIKERS IN HAVERHILL TODAY

HAVERHILL, Oct. 2.—Organizer E. F. Daniels was a keenly disappointed man this morning when scarcely 400 persons turned out for the sympathetic parade of the local branch of the I. W. W. for Ector and Giovannioli and Caruso, now on trial at Salem, and some of these were reported to have come from Lawrence. To swell the showing, only yesterday Leader Daniels predicted a following of 1500, but this dwindled this morning to less than a third of that number. An Italian band headed the line of march, which lay through the shoe district and the section occupied mostly by the foreign classes. There was no disorder of any kind. According to instructions from the police, factory windows were kept closed and there was no demonstration on the part of those at work. The only cheering was by those in the parade, which included 15 women. Obeying the instructions of Alderman Albert L. Bartlett, who granted the permit for the parade, only the American flag was carried and there were two of these. Those marching in the parade were the employees of a morocco and hat factory, a few block cutters and sympathizers.

HEARING TO BE HELD
On the Merrimack River Question

Secretary John H. Murphy of the board of trade makes an appeal to all business men who are interested in making the Merrimack river navigable to the sea, to attend the public hearing on this important question which will be held at the Lawrence city hall, Friday, Oct. 4, at 10:30 a. m.

The board has chartered a special electric car, which will leave Merrimack square, this city, at 9:40 o'clock and at least 50 men ought to make it their duty to attend the hearing, for this is an important matter for the residents of this city as well as of Lawrence and Haverhill.

The following notice of the hearing was received at the board of trade:

Ettor Trial May be Postponed Until Oct. 15th—The Defense Asks for Delay

SALEM, Oct. 2.—An adjournment until Oct. 15th of the trial of Joseph J. Ettor, Arturo Giovannioli and Joseph Caruso was looked for today when the centre of 350 talesmen became almost exhausted without adding materially to the jury. When it became apparent this morning that a jury probably could not be secured from the present panel, counsel for the defense asked Judge Quint to order a postponement rather than to call a new venire forthwith, as had been considered.

No action had been taken at noon, and it was believed that the request would be granted. Hardly more than 50 talesmen remained to be called at the close of the morning session. Willie E. Crosser, the 17th man called today, qualified and took his place with the two jurors selected on Monday. The presence of W. D. Hayward, the Lawrence strike leader, in the courtroom this morning, added to the interest in the case.

EVENING SCHOOL TEACHERS APPOINTED

Many Changes Were Made But Actual Number Not Stated—Pawtucketville Children Must Not Attend Bartlett School

The school board held a special meeting last night and adjourned at midnight. The meeting was called for 8 o'clock but it was 11:05 when Chairman Parsons inquired to order.

The board elected evening school teachers and voted the salary of the superintendent of schools from $3800 to $4000. The portion of the Pawtucketville people that their children should attend the Bartlett school was desired and the board voted to tax on the attendance of pupils at their own school.

Pawtucketville Petition
The school board gave a hearing last Friday night to the Pawtucketville people who asked to have their children remain at the Bartlett school, or in other words, to allow the Pawtucketville children who had been sent away from the Bartlett school, to return and complete their grammar school education there. The board took the matter under advisement and reported last night, as follows:

"There has seemed to be so general a misunderstanding as to the matter of

LOWELL HIGH ELEVEN WON OUT

Defeated Fitchburg High, 3 to 0, Captain Cawley Making a Drop Kick

Captain Cawley's gridiron warriors of the Lowell High school defeated the Fitchburg High school yesterday afternoon at the latter's grounds, the score being 3 to 0. The only tally of the contest was the drop kick made by Captain Cawley.

Conditions were decidedly against a fast exhibition of football for the field was extremely slippery and as a consequence of this defect, fumbles were frequent and long gains rare. The greatest advances which Lowell made were through line plunges and tackle plays and the long end runs which quarter back Snyder attempted several times proved a failure. In other ways, however, Snyder showed great pluck and headwork and handled his backfield in a very commendable manner. Captain Cawley's playing was excellent, his never absent high standard and his plunges were irresistible. Kennedy and Higgins were most prominent in the line of the home team.

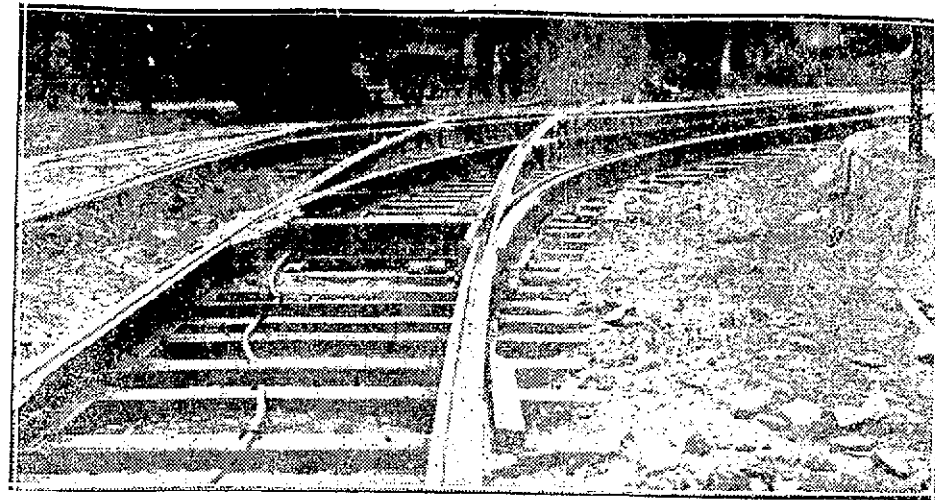

Throughout the greater part of the struggle, Lowell had the better of it and kept the ball well in her opponent's territory, on one occasion getting to the home team's fifteen yard line to have the blowing of the whistle.

announce the end of the first half. Following by good and judicious punting managed to keep her goal line out of immediate danger most of the time and the playing of her men was consistent and forceful. In the second half of the game, Fitchburg began with a grand spurt and for a while it looked bad for the visitors. When their opponents' plunges became actually dangerous, Lowell took a brace and stood them off. The Lowell goal was threatened several times in the latter part of the contest.

SHORT COVERING

AT THE CLOSE OF THE MARKET
THIS AFTERNOON

There Was a Slight Hardening of Prices in the Final Hour—Northern Pacific Was Notably Firm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Extensive selling of stocks of London and local interests caused marked recessions in the opening dealings on the stock exchange today. Losses of from one to two points were sustained by such prominent issues as the Hill and Harriman stocks, Can. Pac, the coals and various specialties. First dealings in Steel comprised 50,000 shares at 15 1/4 and 15 1/2, against 7 1/2 at yesterday's close.

The list made up a considerable portion of its loss. The recovery was stated by heavy accumulation of St. Paul, which rose a point.

The foreign situation was responsible for the heaviness shown by today's early market. Opening prices were a reflection of extensive selling by London, not only for its own account but other European centers as well. Large amounts of steel and other active issues were unloaded, most of these recording initial losses of a point or more while the coal stocks and the more obscure shares lost as much.

The market became heavy again at midday on recurrent short selling. St. Paul and Canadian Pacific were most affected, the general list receding to below yesterday's close.

Further unsettlement was shown in the late afternoon with renewed pressure upon steel and some other leaders, including Union Pacific, St. Paul and Reading.

The market closed heavy. Short covering a slight hardening of prices in the last hour, but the tone continued feverish on reduced operations. No. Pac. was notably firm.

crowned head. But the "little winged fellow with the bow and arrow" who is mightier than all others, though otherwise, and the staff who would be wounded the prince's son. The name of Count George of Waldburg-Zoll-Lustenau-Hoheneck. With all that this George is not, really, but only a member of a mediocrity noble house, one of that group of scoundrel families which have not been so very foreign for about a century, but which retain the right of marrying into royal and imperial families. As in many other cases, the archduchess died in rank by her marriage.

The recent history of the house of Hapsburg, of which the Austro-Hungarian emperor is the head, is plentifully sprinkled with romances wherein royalties have abandoned their rank to marry nobility of inferior station. Prominent among them are the emperor's daughter-in-law, Stephanie, a princess of Belgium by birth, and her daughter, Archduchess Elizabeth Marie. The former lost her husband, Archduke Rudolf, only son of Francis Joseph, in the mysterious tragedy of January, 1889, of which many conflicting stories are told. She is now the wife of Elemer, Count Lonyay, a member of the Hungarian nobility. Her daughter gave up prospects of royal marriages to bestow her heart and hand on Otto, prince of Windisch-Gratz, a member of a mediocrity house.

These are only two of the romances in the recent history of the imperial line. On Dec. 14, 1911, the announcement was made that the emperor had placed the Archduke Henry, Ferdinand, brother of the former Prince Louis of Saxony and of Archduke Leopold Salvator, "on leave with courtesy of all emblems." The reason, it was said, was that the archduke wished to marry a Munich girl belonging to a family not of royal rank.

Archduke John Salvator, known as John Orth, disappeared and was saving his rank and title and married an actress named Marie Stiebel.

Princess Louise of Saxony ran away from Dresden in 1902, leaving her husband, the present king of Saxony. She was forbidden to use her title of archduchess, but she did so. She was divorced from the crown prince of Saxony in 1905 and is married to a musician named Toselli.

Of course other houses besides the Hapsburgs have their cases of royalties wedding with commoner folk. Thus in Great Britain we have the sister of King Edward and aunt of King George married to the Duke of York. He is head of the grand old Scottish house of Campbell, to be sure, but is still not a royal.

Her niece, Princess Louise, sister of King George, is married to the Duke of Argyll, father of Queen Victoria's son-in-law, said on hearing of the news.

"Oh, it's a proud woman the queen will be, thinking that her daughter will marry the son of his grace the duke."

Victoria, is married to Prince Henry of Battenberg, a member of the German nobility.

Sweden has a shining example of a prince who "thought the world well lost for love." He is Oscar, Prince Bernadotte, second son of the late King Oscar and eldest brother of the present King Gustavus Adolphus. Prince Oscar thought so much of Lady Ekba Marck, one of his mother's maids of honor, that for her he renounced all his rights of succession to the throne.

NORTH BILLERICA

Plans are now under consideration for the observance of the silver jubilee of the Father Mathew T. A. society of North Billerica, which event will occur in November. No expense will be spared to make this celebration a worthy one and every member is laboring industriously to insure success.

Today an ex-president of the organization said to a Sun reporter that he was confident that this jubilee will be one of the largest affairs ever held under the auspices of the society, since the condition of the M. T. A. financially as well as in regard to other phases is more than satisfactory at the present time. The entire program of this observance will be published at a later date.

M. T. A. Bachelor Girls

A large and interesting meeting of the M. T. A. Bachelor Girls was held last evening in Matthews hall. After the meeting a rehearsal was held and was directed by William T. Gilmore, musical director of the Bachelor Girls. The musical song review, which the girls are now rehearsing for, will be put on early in November under the auspices of the Matthews T. A. society, and will consist of many novel features that have not yet been seen in this city. They will also present many of the song hits of the season. Many new faces will be seen in this musical and several new vocalists will make their initial appearance before a local audience.

THE RED SOX MAKE RECORD

Bedient Pitched a Great Game
and Had the Senators
at His Mercy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The final game of the home series between the Senators and Boston was won by the champions 8-3 here yesterday, 12 to 3. Bob Groom was Grit's pitching selection, Bedient opposing him. The human shot was way off color and with numerous fumbles and bores behind him, his string of nine in a row was snapped. Aside from gaining this distinction the American league entry in the world's series topped the mark for season's wins, formerly held by the Athletics, winning their last game.

Bedient looked like a world beater and his showing yesterday makes it likely to consider sending the former Providence boy against the Giants in the world's series. His off Bedient were well scattered. He allowed but six all told, two each in the first, fourth and sixth frames. Seven batters were set down on strikes and only two were passed.

Groom was in hot water from the start, giving free passes with liberality which developed into runs with the aid of well placed hits and frequent miscues by his home folk. Bob was taken out in the seventh to allow Agler, an Atlanta recruit to bat. The substitute who worked yesterday on the firing line and the Sox managed to collect a double and a pair of singles of him. His one great achievement was the fanning of Lewis in the ninth with the corners crowded.

Spoke Passed Five Times
Speaker batted 1906 for the matinee, the Washington twirler passing Spoke five or six times he was at bat. This, however, managed to speak over a dozen times in the third session. Steve Yerkes made a pair of four-raising steps at second. The similed here, in the left garden and Lewis experienced some difficulty holding the balls hit into his territory, being a couple of flies that ordinarily would have been out.

The only features from a Washington standpoint, were the comedy stunts of Schaefer and Albrook. The former, having the start, Albrook, with Schaefer at bat, was pulled out to the satisfaction of two fans, not to speak of the entire Boston team and impudently Evans and Dean. After the last, Albrook, approached a new one, for this time, he was, through wrestling him in which he threw himself to the ground by grasping his hands around the back of his neck.

After Hooper and Yerkes had died in the first, Speaker stroked, Lewis struck to center and on Miller's last pop to the hot corner. This record and Duffy reached third. Erbe was passed, Foster batted, Stahle, batter, Lewis, batter.

Moeller opened the Senators' first with a clean double. Forner and Miller were next out, and Grit, with a well placed single to left, scored Moeller. The third inning was a big one for the visitors. Speaker opened with a simple hit, out of the inning, Lewis ran out on Foster's lead. Engle did, Foster to Grit, a double, and scoring the home in the sixth and seventh frames. In the eighth, just to show that he is still there with speed, John sneaked down to second, Wagner's single counted J. Garland, Thomas singled and Bedient fanned. Hooper reached first on Foster's miscue, and the Boston captain registered. Groom and Gandell retired Yerkes.

Speaker Threw Like Tyrus
In the fourth Speaker ran bases a la Cobb. This walked for a starter, Henry's short passed ball advanced Tris to second and he kept on to third, chalking up a stolen base for himself. Foster threw out Lewis. On Grit's infield tap to Foster, Speaker stroked.

Lewis doubled in the seventh and Engle was safe on McBride's slip up. Stahl was out, but Wagner's two base smash to right counted two runners. Thomas and Bedient went out in order. Joe Engel was reached for three more in the eighth. After Hooper and Speaker had been retired, Speaker walked for the fourth time. Lewis doubled sent him over the plate. Engle singled, scoring Lewis. When Moeller dropped Stahl's easy fly Engle crossed the plate. Moeller followed this head up by robbing Heinie Wagner of $50 by picking the captain's hit off the ball sign in right field.

The Thud of the Pigskin is Heard in the Land and the Football Season is in Full Swing Once More

YALE FIRST AND SECOND ELEVENS IN SCRIMMAGE DURING PRACTICE

With the return of college boys from vacations in Europe, along the golf course, in the mountains, from section games and hay fields, come the call of football, the sound of the foot against pigskin and the re-echoing of the gridiron that will not down. As yet but a rumble, this season will in a short time start opposition to the best of the world's series fans, and the football will come into its own.

In several sections the heroes of football already have occurred, the discussions are of nothing else but the possibilities of the new rules and whether or not the star fullback or line-backer will be in condition or perhaps will be able to pass by the faculty restrictions. Summer should be on the way. The cold days and strenuous light of twenty-two trained to the minute athletes are ready for their turn on the little stage. The drama of football is about to be enacted.

Coaches of the higher elevens already are on the job, studiously looking over the new rules handed down by the committee on the important factors of the game. Almost to a man these leaders of the sport predict the greatest year of the game's history, but log out that the rules have been so reconstructed that there is more uncertainty in the outcome of the contests than ever before, and any follower of sport will acknowledge that this uncertainty keeps football in the foreground of all college field activities.

Coinciding with the inauguration in the numerous universities of the con-try has come the call for practice. Veteran players and ambitious youngsters alike will be apportioned some protective apparel, and immediately there will be putting disks, running down kicks, light formations and a long run each day. In the east and far west the practice has been under way for some weeks.

With four downs to make the necessary ten yards, a playing field shorter by thirty feet, the allowance of a forward pass over the goal line and the abolition of the inside kick, there should be scores a-plenty. Light, speedy men, who think as fast as their legs will carry them, should be the material sought by coaches this year.

Open formations, giving rise to plenty of trick plays, will be invented by the Yosts, Stages and Camps of the country. A new football is to be staged for the edification and jollification of America this year. Bring it on.

According to eastern experts the new rules fit Yale like a hobbie skirt. Followers and boosters of Old Eli are predicting a championship year. The Yale line will be made up of sprinters who have learned to start with the pistol. Yale coaches, in confab at Minneapolis last summer, decided that the man who can beat the gun is the man for a back field position this year.

Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania are reckoned as having a big chance to show some things this year. The rules are such a guessing match, even more so than when the game was so radically changed a few years ago that the coaches are unwilling to predict what their teams may or may not do. Dartmouth and Cornell as well as the Army and Navy are looked upon as contenders for the eastern title, with every game a fight and each organization a possibility from the first to the last whistle.

The "big nine" has not lined up as yet, but it begins to look more like Chicago than any other eleven in the middle west. Coach A. A. Stage has showed an amazing ability to teach a team all the new wrinkles in the game, and that in a short time. He has been a stickler for speed rather than for "beef," and because of this it looks as if he has the proper foundation to bring together a championship eleven.

Minnesota has lost Capron and Pickering, the former going through his desire to invade the professional baseball ranks and the latter never recovering from the shock of eligibility rules last year. What the Hoopers will have to present when the first game is started is unknown now. Coach Harry Williams has never failed to put a real team into the field, and it is sure that he will be fighting for the western honors when the last game is played.

Wisconsin will be without the services of many of its veterans who brought that school the championship last year. Keckie Moll, the sensational quarter, is gone and with him probably the most skillful kicker and open field runner in the west. The Badgers, too, will have a new coach to become acquainted with, John R. Richards having resigned after a most successful year. Faculty troubles also threaten to beset the Badger gridiron possibilities, and from these facts it would seem that the Wisconsin squad is to be handicapped.

What Yost will do with his Wolverines should furnish the attractive speculation during the wait for the initial contest. Showing it, has learned the game of football from A to Z, and it is a sure bet that he already has solved the offensive part of his campaign. He has plenty of speed in his squad left over from last year, and with the proper amount of assistance Michigan should be in the height of its glory in the coming campaign.

Yost's team is now gathered at the Michigan resort for a few days for its annual instructions on the game. Here its instructor will look over his material and begin pounding into its heads the chances of the new rules. Yost has always had a couple of efficient forward pass workers, and if he is as lucky this year he should come out on top in every encounter.

Purdue, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Northwestern and Ohio state are the unknowns entered in the western race, and each has a chance, through the open game now instituted. Purdue followers seem to think well of their chances and already are boasting of what they will do to Chicago and Minnesota when those teams are met. Keckie Moll will give the "hoiler-makers" all the assistance possible, being signed up in the position of coach by Purdue.

Dr. Hammett, Northwestern's leader, succeeded in rounding into near championship form an eleven last year, and with an even break with the leaders this year, because of the new rules, he should put a team into the field that will make them all sit up and take notice. Dr. Hammett has not said much about the approaching season, but he is keeping posted as to his men and will be ready for active warfare when the time comes.

What Ohio state, the newest member of the conference, will do on the gridiron this year is all guess work. The Buckeye team has always made a good impression in its annual game with Michigan and almost invariably takes down the honors in Ohio. Many conference experts predict a fight between Chicago, Minnesota and Ohio state for the premier honors this year.

Iowa is looking forward to a season of possibilities never heard of before by the Hawkeye alumni and undergraduates. They have many players of last year's team expected to don suits at the call for attention and are predicting a year of glory for the Iowa institution.

No Danger of Chance Being

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Frank Chance will manage the Cubs next season and perhaps many more unless bad health causes him to quit. The recent squabble between President Charles Murphy of the Chicago club and Manager Chance ended quite a bit differently from what was expected. Murphy declared that Chance had resigned and the Chicago team would have a new leader next year. Chance denied this and said he would quit only when fired. The whole truth is that the club needs Chance more than President Murphy, and there is no danger of the manager being removed. Making a rough guess, the experts would say that there are about 11 other owners who would give Frank an interest in the business just to have him around. Chance is one of the greatest managers baseball has ever produced. He came to Chicago as a player in 1894 and in 1905 succeeded the late Frank Selee as manager of the team. During his management the Cubs won two world's championships and four league pennants, and Chance became known as one of the greatest first basemen in the game.

WORLD'S RECORDS WERE MADE

Sensations at the Races in Columbus — New Four-Heat Mark in Fast Trot

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Two world's records were broken yesterday afternoon at the Grand Circuit races, when Dudie Archdale beat the field in the 200 trotting stake in a sensational four-heat race, the time of which has never been equalled, and the Savage pacers, Minor Heir and George Gano, stepped a mile to the pole in 2:02, the best record for a double hitch.

It was a day of extreme speed, Billy Burk, although defeated, trotting the fastest heat of the season and one of the fastest ever trotted by a stallion, when he defeated Dudie Archdale in the first heat of the fast trot, reducing his record to 2:03 1-4.

Joe Patchen II kept up his winning career by beating the 2:11 strike pacers in straight heats, this being his 12th winning race this season out of 13 starts.

Dudie Archdale was a strong favorite for the fast trot, bringing $50 against $10 for Billy Burk and $5 for the field, which comprised Bruce Girle and King Brook. George set the pace with Dudie Archdale in the first heat and led until well down the stretch, where McDonald came fast with Billy Burk and in a hard drive beat the black mare in 2:03 1-4, a new record for the stallion, the trotting record for the season and time which has been beaten by only two trotting stallions, The Harvester and Crescendo.

Dudie Archdale again set the pace in the second heat, with the stallion close by, but when McDonald commenced his drive at the head of the stretch Billy Burk left his feet and the favorite just loomed to the wire in 2:05 1-4. In the third heat Billy Burk made no mistakes and at the five-eighths pole took the lead from the mare. George took her in behind the stallion and allowed him to act as a wind-break until well down the stretch and then pulled away, and in a well-timed rush beat the stallion by a nose at the wire in 2:03 1-2.

The final heat found Dudie in front all the way, beating Billy Burk by a length in 2:02 3-4. The time of the four heats established a new world's record for a race of that length, the best previous being the event won by Soprano on the local track last year, the race of yesterday averaging one-quarter of a second faster.

Joe Patchen II was making his 13th start of the season, but this was unlucky only for the horses starting against him, the big stallion winning in straight heats in spite of the fact that he made a bad break going away in the first one.

With the Patchen horse barred in the auctions, the local colt was favorite at even money against the field, but broke in every heat and soon money went to the eastern pacer, Foote Prince.

After the finish of the race Joe Patchen was driven a mile accompanied by a runner, in 2:06, the last half in 58 3-4, and the last eighth in 12 1-2 seconds.

Jean Arlon, a winner here last week, was favorite for the 2:14 trot at $25 against $25 for the field. Mack's Mack took two, after which she was defeated in the fourth and fifth by the Canadian gelding, Dr. Wilkes. The race was then carried over until today.

The Savage pacers were billed to attempt to break the 2:06 mark for a pair of stallions which they established recently. On their first attempt they went to the quarter in 2:03 1-4, where Minor Heir broke and George Gano soon followed suit. They were pulled up and brought out later for another try. Accompanied by a runner and driven by Ed Benyon they paced an evenly rated mile in 2:02, the best quarter in 30 1-4. The best previous record for a team was the 2:03 1-4 made by Lady Maid C. and Hedgewood Boy at Grand Rapids three years ago.

Today, the $5000 Buckeye Stake for 2:12 trotters will be raced. The leading money winner, Radon, will meet Dave Halbe, who beat him last week. Ruth McGregor, Oakdale, Dorsh Medium, Esther W. Anne, Kohl and others in this event, which will be practically a tryout of the candidates for the Transylvania State at Lexington next week.

The 3-year-old colt Manrico worked a mile yesterday in 2:09 in preparation for his race in the Kentucky Futurity on Tuesday next, while Princess Todd, also a candidate for that event, was given a time record of 2:09 1-4. The summary:

2:11 CLASS, PACING

Strikers Parade in Lawrence to Show Sympathy For the Men Who Are on Trial for Murder

LAWRENCE, Oct. 2.—After a day of damaged heads in hiding rather than face court action, Mayor Scanlon induces the work of the police, and declares they did only their duty and that their clothes only half enough. Carlo Tresca, a Pittsburgh editor, is here as the new organizer for the Lawrence strikers. In a statement he made concerning the trial of J. J. Egan and Arturo Giovannitti at Salem on a charge of murder, Tresca said: "If Egan and Giovannitti are found guilty or either of them is found guilty the Industrial Workers of the World will march to Salem, storm the jail and rescue the prisoners, if possible."

A NUMBER OF ROUTINE MATTERS Were Acted Upon at a Meeting of the Municipal Council Yesterday

The municipal council met yesterday afternoon and waded through a big raft of business, mostly minor matters. Alderman Cummings said he wanted to clean up the garret of the city hall and he asked that he be authorized to have a house cleaning in the attic. It was so voted.

Mayor O'Donnell called to order at 2:35. The first business was a petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation for the relocation of a pole at the corner of Princeton and Edison streets. John C. Leggat, representing George L. Hooper, appeared as a remonstrant and asked for a continuance. The corporation's representative said that the petition was the result of the request of Dr. Waller for lighting. The matter was continued to Tuesday, Oct. 8.

Martin Gallagher, James H. Mulvaney and others were appointed weighers of hay and other articles. John Castelle was also appointed a weigher of hay, coal and other articles. The Boston Telegraph company petitioned for a conduit in Lawrence street and a hearing was set for Tuesday, Oct. 15.

Petition of Israel Greenburg and others that Leverett street be laid and accepted was referred to Commission. The petition of Mrs. J. W. Smith, O. M. L. and others for the extension of Chambers street to Andrews street was read and, on motion of Alderman Brown, it was voted to give the petitioners a hearing on Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 2 p. m.

A petition for a concrete walk in Liberty street on east line of Hastings street was referred to Ald. Brown. A communication from Lawyer William D. Regan relative to his appeal to the municipal council to assist in obtaining better car service and reduced rates in Lowell was read. The matter before the council came time ago and the council addressed a letter to Supt. Lee of the street railway company setting forth the allegations as contained in Mr. Regan's letter. Mr. Regan in his letter read by the mayor today spoke about the matter being referred to the railroad commissioners. The matter, however, had not been referred to the railroad commissioners and the city clerk was instructed to address a communication to Mr. Regan advising him of the true condition of affairs and to put him right in the matter.

Philip Bradley, an employee of the water department, submitted a claim for personal injury, alleging that his rubber boots leaked, his feet got wet and he caught cold. He is under a doctor's care and he asked that he be compensated. The matter was referred to the department of public safety as was the petition of William J. Burke by his attorneys, J. J. and W. A. Hogan, for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained in Howard street by a fall occasioned by a hole in the sidewalk.

An order granting Richard Gallows permission to use a gas light pole at 567 Central street for barber pole, was adopted.

An order appropriating $1901.04, insurance money received from buildings on City Hospital buildings to an appropriation to be known as an appropriation for city hospital repairs was adopted.

An order appropriating $5167 to pay Lowell's proportionate part in the cost of building the river road in Dracut was read and it was explained that the city solicitor said the money would have to be paid Middlesex county. It was voted to discuss the matter later, the date set being Tuesday, Oct. 15.

The communication from William J. Carroll and others asking that the question of the eight hour law as applying to city laborers be placed on the ballot at the next city election was taken up and a report from the commissioner of finance to the effect that the necessary number of signatures had not been supplied and that the law had not been lived up to was read and the city clerk was instructed to take the matter up with the petitioners.

The order relative to the city's share in the building of the proposed bridge over the Wamssett canal in Lawrence street was deferred to the next meeting and the order was referred to the city solicitor for changes if any are necessary.

An order to lay a sewer in the Boston road per petition of John J. Gray was adopted.

A petition for a gas light in Cumberland and Farmland roads was granted. An order to place a gas light in Methuen street was adopted as was also an order for a gas light in Lane court.

A petition for an electric light in Middlesex street, facing Dingwall street was read and the order accompanying the petition was adopted as was an order for a gas light in Woodward avenue at Orchard street.

Orders for gas lights in Saratoga street and Hawthorne street were adopted.

The petition of Thomas Costello for an electric light in Nesmith street was read and the order granting the petition was adopted.

The petition of Peter O'Neill for an arc light in Stromquist avenue between Reed and Corbett streets was read and the order accompanying the petition was adopted.

On motion of Alderman Cummings action on the order to borrow $35,000 for addition to the Greenhouse school was deferred to a later meeting.

The question of the foundation for the new board of health stable was brought up by Alderman Cummings, who said it would be necessary to do a great deal of extra excavation and to add concrete and extra steel reinforcement. Mr. Cummings said that the contractor would ask $657.50 additional on account of the extra work.

At 4 o'clock the council adjourned to Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 2 p. m.

Matinee, tomorrow, The Playhouse.

YOU Can Enjoy A Pipe—If You Smoke TUXEDO.

Every man knows that pipe smoking is the ideal form in which to use tobacco.

Only in pipe smoking can you get the full benefit, the perfect delight, of tobacco.

And yet—thousands of men reluctantly deny themselves the pleasure of the pipe,—because fancy "mixtures" and ordinary pipe tobaccos bite the tongue and dry the throat, and upset the nerves.

Geo. H. Robertson, famous auto driver and Vanderbilt Cup winner, says—
"My chief solace after a long race—a pipeful of Tuxedo. It's the REAL Smoke."

DOES NOT WANT A LIBRARY

JOHN W. BRENNAN
Town Clerk

WALTER F. GARLAND

Town of Dracut Refuses Money to Establish One in Harmony Hall, Collinsville

The lower part of George Hall in Collinsville, Dracut Centre was filled last night to its seating capacity and many people were obliged to stand, the occasion being the second special town meeting held this year relative to the establishment of a branch library in Harmony Hall, Collinsville. The project to borrow $500 for the said library for a term of 10 years at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent, per annum, was turned down by the overwhelming majority who were opposed to such action.

The branch library question has been the main topic in Collinsville since the regular town meeting which was held last March and at which time the citizens voted to appropriate $500 for the establishment of the said library. The library trustees and the directors of the hall, however, could not reach an agreement and finally the matter was brought before a judge of the superior court. A short time later a special town meeting was called and the citizens voted to rescind their former action. The residents of Collinsville, however, would not let the matter stand and through their attorney they called another special town meeting and the case was set for trial.

The meeting last night was called to order at 8 o'clock by Town Clerk John P. Brennan and article 1 of the warrant to elect a moderator was read. There were two candidates for the position, Messrs. George H. Stevens and H. P. McCarthy. The voting last night was as follows: Total, 219; necessary for choice, 121; Stevens, 221; McCarthy, 12.

Mr. Stevens took the chair and after he had taken up as follows: "The report of the board of directors of the town under article XVIII of the warrant for the annual town meeting for the year 1912, and on an audit report and other action necessary to carry into effect the vote of the town under said article."

Second, Walter F. Garland, residing in Collinsville, said that all the street lights were in repair on Bridge street, where they were fixed up on account of the pole locations. Mr. Thomas Walsh said he was the proprietor of the article and that he knew that there had been such an unknown delay in doing the work, which Mr. Garland pointed out that the lighting contract had run out and that the school had been seeking a lower rate. The report of the school was accepted and the article dismissed.

Article 11. To invest in the purchase of cattle and the inspection of cattle and meat. On this article a citizen said he had read an article in the newspapers to the effect that cattle was being brought in the town and according to the 30th of September, 1912, the town had been slaughtered and eventually they were. Chairman Garland said that the cattle that had arrived in the town in bad condition had been quarantined and later destroyed. The article was dismissed.

The Library Matter. The next article was that which called for a vote to borrow $500 for the establishment of a branch library in Harmony Hall. A motion that the said amount be borrowed for a term of ten years at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent, was presented in writing, and Rev. Thomas A. Walsh of Collinsville was the only person heard on the question. He said, in part, "At the town meeting in March the amount of $500 was voted to establish a branch library in Harmony Hall, Collinsville. The motion was later rescinded at a special town meeting owing to a friction between the library trustees and the hall trustees. The matter is again brought before you because many who had voted against it at the last meeting have promised to vote in favor tonight. Mr. (Hebert E. Holmes, the able man of this section, a first class man of Maine, has been elected to the community by a library and towns and city governments fail to comprehend the people of libraries, and fail to appreciate the value of the same. It is a pity that this failure is quite prominent here, continued Mr. Walsh. Nowhere more than in Dracut is a library needed, as it is an extension of the school system and work which is very deficient in Dracut, and no credit to the community of Massachusetts."

"A drive of opponents make up the opposition to this library. It is composed of several men of weight in avoidings, but intellectually light. The mask has fallen and their motives disclosed: It is personal and religious. They are now among the most despised men of this section. They are the men who have boards of trade and improvement societies, but Collinsville has the unique distinction of having no such organizations opposing all progress and advancement, particularly in education."

transfers of pupils in both primary and grammar grades, of the schools, and there has been no general interest recently in the matter of transfers between the Pawtucketville and Bartlett districts. That certain matters of rules and facts should be set forth clearly at this time.

For a period of more than ten years the following quoted passages have been a part of the published rules of the Lowell school committee: "The superintendent shall have the direction and control of the transfer of pupils from one school to another, of the same grade, and sign the certificate therefor. In doubtful cases he shall consult the appropriate sub-committee. Except for change of residence, changes between grammar schools shall be made only by the full board, Chapter 12, Chapter 2, Section 4."

All pupils promoted from primary to grammar schools shall be required to attend the grammar schools in the district in which they reside, unless permission to attend elsewhere is granted by vote of the board. (Page 26, Chapter 4, Section 4, 1903.)

There is no record of any change in the above quoted provisions from 1902 to the present time.

There is, then, evidence of two kinds which can establish the right of a pupil to be in a school other than the one in the district in which he resides: first, if he be a primary pupil, a certificate signed by the superintendent of schools; second, if he be a grammar pupil, a vote of the committee recorded in the minutes of the meeting at which the transfer was granted or approved.

The records of the school committee show, after careful scrutiny, that the nature of the following decisions: Jan. 20th, 1906, June 25th, 1906, Dec. 1st, 1906, Aug. 30th, 1910, Sept. 25th, 1910, Oct. 25th, 1910, Sept. 27th, 1911, Oct. 25th, 1911, Nov. 27th, 1911, and Jan. 30th, 1912.

There is no record of any change in the above quoted provisions from 1902 to the present time.

The following letter will explain the conditions existing in the Bartlett school early in the year 1911, less than two years ago.

Office of the Superintendent of Schools, Lowell, Mass., Feb. 20, 1911.

To the City Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen: I am directed by the board of directors to report to you that the Bartlett school, which is a high school, and to ask you, as a means of relief, to partition off the building for the use of a high school, and to ask you to grant the necessary funds for the purpose.

Respectfully reported, Arthur K. Whitcomb, Secretary of the School Committee.

A true copy attested: Stephen Flynn, City Clerk.

The following transcript from the records of meetings of committee on lands and buildings will furnish further important information:

April 3, 1911.

A communication from Arthur K. Whitcomb, secretary of the school committee, stating that upper grades of Bartlett school are badly overcrowded and asking that two rooms be partitioned off on the third floor, was read. Mr. Whitcomb appeared before the committee and stated that some relief must be found for the Bartlett school. He stated that the only other kind of relief that could be given is the opening of the school street building. The school committee believe it advisable to use a single building, instead of two separate ones. Opening the school street building will result in a considerable expense. Mr. Whitcomb agrees with that of the school committee.

The chairman Mr. Whitcomb stated that there are perhaps seventy pupils from Pawtucketville attending the Bartlett school. This is a considerable number. The school committee believe it advisable to use a single building, instead of two separate ones. Opening the school street building will result in a considerable expense. Mr. Whitcomb agrees with that of the school committee.

Mr. Wm. P. McCarthy, Asst. City Clerk.

The number of pupils in the Bartlett school in February, 1911, was 651. In September, 1911, the number was 659. In January of the present year the number was 674.

During the entire school year, which closed in June, 1912, a class was maintained as a regular class of the school, in the corridors.

had been done, it was to the residents of Pawtucketville, whose children had been snatched because they did not have the necessary influence to send them to the Bartlett school. It also called attention to the fact that at the hearing, not one instance was brought out that would imply that there was anything wrong with the Pawtucketville school. He said he hoped the board would adopt the report and that the rules would be enforced, and that every child in the Pawtucketville district would attend the school, or the trustee officer would know why.

The report was adopted, four to one, Mr. Rogers voting against it.

The Superintendent's Salary.

Mr. Rogers was opposed to any advance in the salary of the superintendent of schools at this time. "I hesitate to vote on that," he said, "and I do not mean any reflection on our superintendent. But it seems to me unusual in a business way, for a man to be granted a larger salary at the very beginning of his tenure."

Dr. Bagley said he would not hesitate to vote for the increase for he believed the salary should be increased. He said that the superintendent of schools had been in the position for four or five years and that he was a very capable man. He said that the salary should be increased to $3500.

Mr. Rogers remarked that New Bedford and Lynn paid only $3000 and Chairman Farrington begged to correct Mr. Rogers' statement. He said that New Bedford paid more than $2000 and Mr. Rogers said he meant Brockton instead of New Bedford.

Dr. Bagley expressed his confidence in Mr. Rogers and suggested that superintendents in other cities who were receiving more than $3000 were probably not earning more. "I have a good man on the job in Lowell," he said.

"If the city of Lowell can afford to pay $3500, any objection here to an increase in the salary of our superintendent is nothing short of ridiculous," said Mr. O'Connor.

Chairman Farrington said he would favor the increase because he believed that the superintendent of schools should be paid more than any of his subordinates. "The superintendent ought not to be on the same basis as the head master of the high school," he said.

The vote was then taken and it was four to one in favor of the increase. Mr. Rogers voting two.

Duties of Superintendent.

Mr. Rogers, chairman of the committee on rules, presented a draft of the new superintendent of schools and it was adopted.

A list of janitors for the evening school was adopted on a unanimous vote.

Girls' Battalion Regulations.

Mr. Rogers for the committee on rules presented a communication referring to the regulations for the girls' battalion in the high school. He thought it properly belonged to Mr. O'Connor as sub-committee man for the high school, and handed it to the clerk, who read it. It provides that the officers shall be selected from the third and fourth year girls, of the graduating class, and advise their parents and guardians of their selection and of the school regulations. Drill for the fourth year is voluntary.

Drill for the first year girls shall be in small squads and shall consist of marching, drill, and games and games.

Drill for second year girls shall consist of exercises with words or numbers, and this group shall be known as the second battalion of girls.

Drill for third and fourth year girls shall consist of exercises with Indian clubs, and this group shall be known as the first battalion of girls.

Each battalion shall be divided into four companies. The officers of each battalion shall be a captain, an adjutant, an auditor, a captain and two lieutenants for each company.

The officers will be selected from the third and fourth year girls of the graduating class. Only those girls will be eligible who have completed satisfactorily three full studies for each year.

Drill has not taken place since the opening of the school, and the school committee are anxious to have the girls drill during their membership in the school, and who are not delinquent in their school work.

The officers will be selected from the above list by competitive drill. Judges to be the teacher in charge and two other teachers to be selected by the superintendent of schools.

205 Men Were Killed

THREAT MADE AGAINST HAYWOOD IN A BATTLE BETWEEN THE MEXICAN REBELS AND FEDERALS AT AURA PASS, NEAR MONCLOVA

Report That Gang is Coming From New York to Murder I. W. W. Leader

SALEM, Oct. 2.—City Marshal Patrick Leman today received a telegram purporting to come from Vincent St. John of the Industrial Workers of the World at Chicago in which it was alleged that a conspiracy has been made against the life of William D. Haywood, who is here. The message said that a gang in the employ of some New York agency had been hired in New York to go to Salem and commit the murder. The telegram called upon the sheriff to protect Haywood.

Chief Leman showed the telegram to Judge Quinn, Sheriff Johnson and Haywood. The latter said he knew nothing of the matter but that St. John was his general secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, who was to be depended upon. The chief assured Haywood that he would be accorded the protection that would be given to any other citizen. He conferred with the Lawrence police and took steps to investigate the matter.

SEEKING INFORMATION

Mayor Asked To Supply Information Concerning Woman Supposed To Have Died In This City

The following letter addressed to Mayor O'Donnell and received at his office today is self explanatory:

Norwell, Mass., Oct. 2, 1912.
Your Honor, the Mayor: I am seeking information concerning one Kate or Catherine Granger, who was born in Ireland and came to this country a long time ago, possibly forty or fifty years. She worked in Lowell, I think in some of the mills, was a maiden lady and I am not positive, but think she died in one of the Lowell hospitals. If you can give me any information concerning the record of her birth and death, or other information, I will be very grateful indeed as it is of vital importance to myself and children.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Margaret E. O'Connell
22 Belmont Ave., Norwell, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Foley of Lincoln street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss May Foley, to Mr. D. F. Henry, a well known business man of Palmer, Mass.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Oct. 2.—Two hundred and five men were killed in battle between Mexican rebels and federals at Aura Pass, not far from Monclova, Mexico, on Monday evening, according to a report that reached here today. Several federal officers were reported killed. There were about 500 men on each side, the federals being commanded by General Blanquet. Last night the rebels retreated in the face of federal reinforcements.

Rev. Fr. McCarthy Given Fine Send-off

Rev. Felix McCarthy, who left Lowell today for Vista, Neb., was tendered a farewell reception last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fay in Blossom street. There was a large number of the clergyman's local relatives and friends present, and all assisted in making the affair a pleasant one.

Fr. McCarthy, who takes very interesting of the west, told of the progress made there during his 11 years of parish work in Nebraska. He talked of the climate, the industries, citizens, etc., and said that the region is now in a flourishing condition. He said that his brother, Rev. John McCarthy, is stationed in Omaha, and that this fact makes it pleasant for both. His short address was listened to with close attention, and was greatly enjoyed by all.

A musical program was given, including piano selections by Robert Fay, Mrs. Thomas Fay, and Frank Fay, Jr., and vocal selections by Miss May Foley, May Fay, Catherine Fay, Harry Moffett, William Sullivan and others, all of which were given in an exceptionally clever manner.

Later in the evening an appetizing repast was served by Mrs. Robert Fay and Miss May Fay. The pleasant affair was brought to a close about midnight all wishing the popular young priest a pleasant and successful trip.

This morning Fr. McCarthy, accompanied by several of his Lowell relatives, went to Boston, where he took the train for Buffalo. He will remain there for a few days, after which he will board a train for Vista, Neb., where he will resume his parish work at St. Mary's parish, after a long absence, during which he was in Washington, D. C., for several months, home, Italy, for about a year, and in Lowell several weeks.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

St. Yves Dropped 100 Feet in Biplane

HEMSTEAD, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Henri St. Yves, the French Marathoner, who has been studying as an apprentice aviator here for some weeks, narrowly escaped death in the Hemstead plains aerodrome late yesterday. He was making a low flight in a biplane when he tried to turn a pylon too sharply. His craft careened and then dropped to the ground 100 feet. Mechanics ran to the spot, thinking the aviator was killed, but when they lifted him out of the wreckage he was able to stand, his only injuries being a number of severe bruises.

GENERAL STRIKE UNDER CONSIDERATION

LAWRENCE, Oct. 2.—Upon the outcome of a proposed conference between manufacturers and representatives of the Industrial Workers of the World today the question of a general strike in all of the Lawrence textile mills was believed to depend. Leaders of the Industrial Workers have asked the management of the mills to explain the discharge of Industrial Worker operatives yesterday when the workers returned to the factories at the conclusion of the 24-hour strike of protest.

The committee appointed last night by the Industrial Workers to investigate the charges that some of their members were being discriminated against planned a conference with mill officials. It was not known whether the agents of the mill would confer with the delegation. The central committee of Industrial Workers will meet tonight to discuss the situation and plans have been made to call mass meetings of the operatives in the event of an unsatisfactory answer from the manufacturers.

Twenty-eight thousand operatives went to work this morning. Many who were refused employment yesterday found work today. Some of those returning remained away yesterday for fear of violence. A number of operatives termed "undesirable" by the mill officials were turned away again.

SCARCELY 400 PERSONS TURNED OUT IN PARADE OF STRIKERS IN HAVERHILL TODAY

HAVERHILL, Oct. 2.—Organizer E. F. Daniels was a keenly disappointed man this morning when scarcely 400 persons turned out for the sympathetic parade of the local branch of the I. W. W. for Ector and Giovannitti and Caruso, now on trial at Salem, and some of these were reported to have come from Lawrence to swell the showing. Only yesterday Leader Daniels predicted a following of 1500, but this dwindled this morning to less than a third of that number. An Italian band headed the line of march, which lay through the shoe district and the section occupied mostly by the foreign classes. There was no disorder of any kind. According to instructions from the police, factory windows were kept closed and there was no demonstration on the part of those at work. The only cheering was by those in the parade, which included 15 women. Obeying the instructions of Alderman Albert L. Bartlett, who granted the permit for the parade, only the American flag was carried and there were two of these. Those marching in the parade were the employees of a morocco and hat factory, a few black cutters and sympathizers.

EVENING SCHOOL TEACHERS APPOINTED

Many Changes Were Made But Actual Number Not Stated—Pawtucketville Children Must Not Attend Bartlett School

The school board held a special meeting last night and adjourned at midnight. The meeting was called for 9 o'clock but it was 11:05 when Chairman Farrington rapped to order. The board elected evening school teachers and raised the salary of the superintendent of schools from $2000 a year.

The petition of the Pawtucketville people that their children be allowed to attend the Bartlett school was denied and the board voted to insist on the attendance of pupils at their own school.

Pawtucketville Petition

The school board gave a hearing last Friday night to the Pawtucketville people who asked to have their children remain at the Bartlett school, or,

in other words, to allow the Pawtucketville children who had been sent away from the Bartlett school, to return and complete their grammar school education there. The board took the matter under advisement and reported last night, as follows:

There has seemed to be so general a misunderstanding as to the matter of

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

ST. BERNARD, Que., Oct. 2.—Ten children were burned to death here today. They were the sons and daughters, ranging in age from 18 months to 15 years, of Alexander Gravel.

Gravel and his wife left their home last evening and returning early today found it in flames. They were unable to aid the children, whose deaths they witnessed. It is thought that an overturned lamp started the fire.

ARE SEEKING WITNESSES

To Testify in Dynamite Conspiracy Case

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—A corps of government agents scattered from Boston to Los Angeles, it was learned today, already is at work seeking out the witnesses who are to appear for the prosecution in the trial of the men accused of complicity in the dynamite conspiracy.

To keep the authorities informed of the whereabouts of the people who will be called, a half dozen agents are now employed regularly in an office adjacent to that of District Attorney Charles W. Miller. In some instances telegraphic instructions are sent and a checking up system is maintained for witnesses who change their residence.

One by one when only the trial begins a multitudes crowd is to be seated in the witness box. Train conductors and station check men who were reported to have handled baggage containing explosives; boarding house keepers in various localities who rented rooms in which pots were said to have been laid for blowing up bridges, viaducts and buildings; renters of barns and empty houses where nitro glycerine and dynamite were hidden; stone curriers who sold fuses and explosives; jewelers who sold alarm clocks and others in higher and lower stations are to be drawn into a great body of witnesses by whom the government expects to prove a conspiracy against the accused.

BADLY INJURED

Woman Was Thrown from Wagon When Horse Ran Away in North Chelmsford Yesterday

Mrs. Patrick Stack was severely injured in North Chelmsford yesterday afternoon when she was thrown from a wagon and received a fractured hipbone. She was taken to the Lowell hospital and authorities say that her recovery is uncertain. The accident occurred on the boulevard in North Chelmsford near where the railroad tracks come quite near the road. Mrs. Stack who was accompanied by a woman companion, was driving when the horse, frightened at the approach of a train, began to rear and plunge. Her efforts to control the animal were fruitless, and the horse suddenly turned, throwing the carriage against a fence and precipitating the occupants to the road. The train stopped and the women were brought to this city and taken to the Lowell hospital. Besides a fractured hip, Mrs. Stack sustained several bruises about the head and body. Her companion was not seriously injured.

MONEY FOR CHARITIES

Will of the Late Patrick Donovan Filed

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—The will of Patrick J. Donovan, a contractor, who died Sept. 18 at his house on Winthrop street, Charlestown, was filed in the Suffolk county probate office yesterday afternoon. Mr. Donovan left a wife but no children. It is thought his estate is about $200,000.

Mrs. Annie M. Donovan, wife of the testator, Bernard S. McNellis and Daniel Donovan, all of Boston, are appointed trustees to manage the property during the lifetime of Mrs. Donovan, who is to receive the entire income.

Upon her death, the will provided for six funds of $5000 each, to be held by the City of Boston, and the income to be expended by the pastor of St. Mary's church, Charlestown, for the benefit of the poor for decorating the altar and sanctuary of St. Mary's church, for the poor children in the parish, to provide a scholarship in some college or institution of learning for a boy or girl in St. Mary's parish, for the maintenance of vocal or instrumental music in St. Mary's church, and for the sick poor of the parish.

If the City of Boston should decline to accept the several trusts, the difference funds are to be paid to the Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, who is to carry out the purpose of the testator.

The residue of Mr. Donovan's estate is to be divided into six parts and paid to his cousins, Daniel Donovan and Timothy McCarthy, his friend, Andrew J. McDonough, the Home for Destitute Roman Catholic Children on Harrison avenue, the Free Home of Consumptives on Quincy street, Dorchester, and the Holy Ghost Home for Incurables.

The will was executed July 18, 1898, and Mrs. Donovan is named as executrix.

MEETING OF TEACHERS

Was Held at the High School Yesterday

The first meeting of the season of the Lowell Teachers' association was held in the high school hall yesterday afternoon. A brief business session was held followed by a reception during which Misses Mary G. Stevens and Jennie L. Allen poured, while chocolate was served by young ladies of the high school. The hall had been beautifully decorated by the members of the social committee, Miss Mary T. Kilpatrick, chairman.

A feature of the business meeting was the receipt of a check for an amount of $52.10, royalties on the copies of Charles W. Morrey's arithmetic that have been sold to the city of Lowell. The royalties are a gift from Mr. Morrey, principal of the Highland school to the teachers' organization.

The coming of "Mutt and Jeff" or "Everlasting Yarns" cannot cause but the hurry among the little folks and among a lot of big little folks as well, as the announcement of the engagement of this bill's big musical comedy. Featuring Bud Fisher's clever cartoon comedy, "Mutt and Jeff" at the Opera House, commencing Oct. 8 for an engagement of two days.—Adv.

CREATOR AND HIS BAND

A large audience is expected to greet Sig. Creators and his band at the Opera House, next Sunday, matinee and night. It is said that while the instruments without power of sound one who understands and loves music would be thrilled with one of the renditions by this organization almost to feeling the harmony in which the director lives and acts. Temperamentally, he is a leader, shows him to be a lucky child of a marked degree, and the way he conducts himself by personal magnetism in eye, head, arm, hand and smiling face, shows him to be a lucky child of a marked degree. There is no mistaking the magic of his personality, and one can only look and wonder at the grasp he has over his men. His programs are always interesting and varied, being full of melody, offering and soothing by turns, at one time sounding the voice of the storm-king and again melting into the liquid tones of love. The engagement here is under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks and for the benefit of the building fund. In order that the building fund may benefit, tickets should be purchased from members.—Adv.

YIDDISH PLAYERS

At the Opera House tonight "The Yiddish Players" will play their annual engagement, beginning the musical drama "The Golden Wedding." The company is composed of some of New York's foremost Yiddish actors and the sale of seats indicates more than usual interest in the engagement.—Adv.

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

Interest in the engagement of the Opera House company in "The Bohemian Girl" which opens at the Opera House on Saturday, Oct. 5, matinee and night, is indicated by the unusually large advance sale which promises to equal that of any attraction presented here in a long while. It would appear that the excellence of this offering is very generally known. Seats are now on sale.—Adv.

Kell's Theatre

Herb Webster, Jr., is the best singing performer in "The Maid and the Prince," a happy musical comedy of the kind at the Kell's theatre, this week. The song "In the Snow" is a gem. The act is replete with pretty girls, sweet music and funny comedy. Webster, Jr., is also in "Bill Brothers, De-Lious, and Julia" such a stirring sketch are also extending plaudits. The Road Sisters are excellent dancers and Peppino, the piano-acrobaticist has a repertoire of music bits which keep one on the jump. Other acts are given by Clarence Everett and Comedian Tom.—Adv.

The Playhouse

One of the many really clever pieces of work shown this week in the presentation of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," which is being given by The Drama Players at The Playhouse, is that of Howard Sidney in the portrayal of "Henry VIII." the fat, jolly, and almost furious king of England. Mr. Sidney's efforts are truly praiseworthy and merit the many pleasant things heaped upon him for his exceptional characterization of the part. No less worthy of recognition are Miss Jackson, Mr. Smith, Mr. J. J. and Miss Tindle, while Miss Young is indeed subtle and striking as England's queen.—Adv.

Academy of Music

The bill at the Academy this week is one of the best that has been given there this season. Every act is a star and the pictures are among the best manufactured. "Grab Night," last evening provided great amusement for all, and at the conclusion of the show, Misses Church was showered with congratulations for providing such a unique feature.—Adv.

The Casino

This is Old Times' night at The Casino, and you are invited to attend the free concert, preceding dancing. This will include the playing of the classics of 25 and 30 years ago which are far superior to the present day musical productions, and which find appreciation from young and old. The Casino is rapidly undergoing alterations to meet winter conditions. A steam plant is being installed at an expense of $2000 and the hall has already been inclosed by substantial partitions.—Adv.

Some Useful and Attractive Bonnets Have Been Designed That Will Appeal to Women

Nothing makes a greater appeal to the average woman than pretty and becoming headgear. This illustration shows two caps that are very attractive and can be made available for a number of purposes. Made from silk, pongee, corduroy, linen and many other suitable materials, they are excellent for all outing wear, on the steamer or in the motor, and made from any of the thicker washable materials, such as lawn, dainty and the like, they become most satisfactory dust caps. The Dutch cap consists of two pieces and the other of three. The making of either is a very simple matter and requires very little time and no expert skill. If one of the little bonnet caps that are so much in demand just now is wanted either of these models can be made to serve by the addition of ribbon and lace or some such dainty touch.

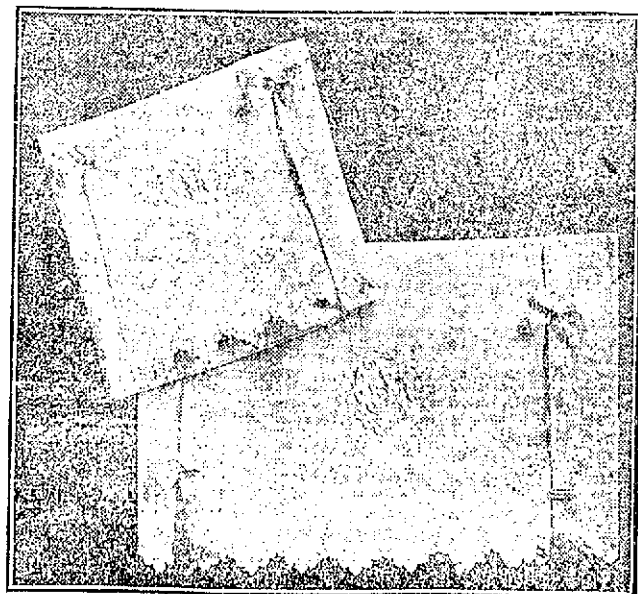

For making the Dutch cap will be required three-quarters of a yard of material of any width; for the other cap one yard twenty-seven inches wide, seven-eighths of a yard thirty-six inches wide or one-half yard forty-four inches wide.

A GRAND DEMONSTRATION FOR HOME RULE

Boston's Rousing Welcome to Wm. Redmond
M. P. Last Night

HON. WM. H. K. REDMOND, M. P.

One of the greatest home rule demonstrations ever held in Boston was that of last night at Tremont Temple, when Hon. William H. K. Redmond, M. P., was welcomed as the representative of the Irish parliamentary party and delegated by his brother, John E. Redmond, the Irish leader, to attend the convention of the Irish National League in Philadelphia last week.

Mr. Redmond, Mayor Fitzgerald, President Ryan, Secretary John O'Callaghan, Thomas B. Fitzpatrick and other officers and leaders were escorted from the Lenox hotel by a parade of several military companies and three bands, all voluntarily offered by Hibernian and other companies in honor of Mr. Redmond and in sympathy with his cause. The Clare men of Boston turned out in great numbers to honor Mr. Redmond, who represents that county in parliament. The assembly at Tremont Temple was so great that an effort was made to secure a hall for an overflow meeting, but it was too late to secure the permit and get the employees of the hall together. The enthusiasm shown surpassed anything seen in Boston since the old Land League days, when Davitt, Dillon, Parnell, Boyle, O'Reilly and P. A. Collins stirred the hearts of the people by the stories of Ireland's wrongs.

The last speaker was the national president, M. J. Ryan of Philadelphia, and although it was after 10:30 when he was introduced, there was still present a large audience which responded to the spell of his eloquence. For a man who never saw Ireland, Mr. Ryan has a wonderful knowledge of her past history and her present condition. He is a most magnetic speaker and the foremost worker for the cause in the United States.

Lawyer M. J. Jordan opened the meeting and introduced Mayor Fitzgerald as chairman of the evening. On the platform were Governor Foss, city and state officials, clergymen and a large number of prominent workers in the cause.

Governor's Address

Gov. Foss said in part: "In Massachusetts we have always considered the interests of our Irish citizens, in common with the interests of the nationalities which make up our cosmopolitan state, as distinctly American interests."

"We all recognize first and foremost the common interests which bind us together in the common cause of American life and progress."

"But tonight our attention is directed across the seas, and we have to deal with the interests of the Irish race in their native land."

"The issue is not now home rule for America. That issue was settled long ago. It is home rule for Ireland. And over this momentous issue a conflict has arisen which has stirred the British empire. And yet, in its fundamental simplicity the issue is clear. Ireland is seeking on behalf of her purely local issues the right of self-government. And the entire policy of the British empire is in favor of local self-government."

"Such government has been established in Canada, in Australia, and in the newer states of South Africa. And these countries have time and again indorsed home rule for Ireland. Scotland and Wales are on record as strongly favoring the extension of this principle to Ireland."

"It would be unbecoming in me to debate the issue, but I have put myself clearly on record as an advocate of local self-government. I believe that this principle should be extended to our towns and cities, and that no community, and no people, can reach their highest success, socially, industrially, or in any other way, unless they exercise to the fullest possible degree the function of local self-government."

"I think we are speaking only in the direct interest of Great Britain herself, when we applaud the extension of the principle of local government to the many parts and dependencies of that empire."

"I believe that the time is rapidly coming when we shall see an imperial parliament representing directly all sections of the British empire, and a local parliament in each branch of it, directing local affairs."

Redmond's Speech
"Mr. Mayor, Mr. Governor, ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. Redmond: "In the first place allow me to return my most sincere thanks for the marvellously enthusiastic welcome which you have given me to Boston tonight. I know, of course, that your welcome is not in any sense intended for myself personally at all, but it is intended to show that at this great and unprecedented crisis in her fate, Ireland may confidently rely upon the freedom-loving people of this great state of Massachusetts (Applause), to stand by her side and help her with sympathy and support until the door of liberty is really opened and she takes her place among the self-governing nations of the earth. (Applause.)"

"Ladies and gentlemen, upon behalf of the great Irish nation, to which I have had the honor to belong for the last 30 years of my life, I thank you for your demonstration tonight. I thank my own Irish fellow-countrymen for their enthusiasm, which I expected, but I also thank the people of this great state where freedom commenced for America long ago, because they, without regard to race or origin or creed, have unmistakably shown that they are in thorough and hearty accord and sympathy with the long struggle Ireland has made for the restoration of her status as a free nation."

"If there was any doubt as to the opinion of the people of Massachusetts toward Ireland, that doubt must indeed be entirely dissolved after tonight, because when I go back in a few days to the floor of the British parliament, it will be my pride and pleasure to say that I was welcomed for Ireland's sake, not only by the Irish of Boston, but by the highest officers of the state, the mayor of the city and the governor of Massachusetts. (Applause.)"

"Ladies and gentlemen, one of the saddest things in any cause like ours for men who have been in it practically all their lives is to find how many have passed, and the truest and the bravest of our race, men who worked and suffered with all their souls for Ireland, have been called away. How Boyle O'Reilly, how Patrick Collins (Applause), how others whose names I could mention would have loved to see this day when we are certain as human beings can be of anything that the long night of Ireland is over and that she is about to emerge after all her sufferings into the sunshine of freedom and prosperity. (Applause.)"

"The men who originated this present movement have passed away. Parnell and Davitt are no more with us. O'Reilly and Collins have gone the long journey. Of the party originally organized by Mr. Parnell in the British parliament 32 years ago, only a few are left. The cause has gone on all the time, and it is the surest testimony of final success of that cause that no matter how its captains drop away, fresh champions appear, and I thank God I am able to come here 32 years after Mr. Parnell organized the party to which I belong."

"Mr. Parnell's policy has been vindicated and that of all the questions taking up the attention of the British parliament today, the first and foremost, most pressing and insistent for settlement is the cause of home rule and the restoration of Ireland's parliament. (Applause.)"

Give Parnell Credit
"Those of us who know the history of Ireland know that the Irish parliamentary representation from Ireland in the British parliament was mostly a failure, very often a disgrace, and a shame to the name of Ireland, until Mr. Parnell came. He said: 'Give me a party of independent men from Ireland. I don't care how lowly their origin may be. I don't care how poor they may be, give me a party of independent men who will stand together like a company of soldiers on the floor of the British parliament, looking not to the left, but with their gaze all the time fixed upon Ireland. Give me a party like that,' said Mr. Parnell, 'and home rule and the restoration of Ireland's parliament and the right to govern herself is bound to come.'"

"Many men, honest men and honorable men, doubted Mr. Parnell's prediction. He is dead. The majority of the young men whom he called into public life have followed him to sleep under the soil of Ireland, but his principles and his party remain. And now am I not entitled, as one of the oldest members of that party, to claim from Irishmen of all sections of thought in Boston and in America, that Mr. Parnell's policy has been vindicated? The Irish party has remained independent, has remained unimpaired, and we shall continue in that independence till we leave, as soon as we sincerely hope we shall, the British parliament, to take our seats in the ancient building which was the scene of the activities and the glories of Ireland before the last year of our parliament."

"Ladies and gentlemen, I am anxious, tonight, with your kind permission, to be as practical and as close to the essential points in my address as I can, possibly be. I want before I return home next week to take my part in the final stages of this great battle, to let you know clearly and plainly what our opinion is in Ireland, what we think of the position and the situation, and what it is we ask our friends under the stars and stripes to do."

"The home rule bill is the foremost measure now before the consideration of the British parliament. It passed its second reading as you are aware by a majority reaching over the figure 100, a majority composed largely, as your governor has told you, of the representatives of Scotland and England and Wales. That bill would have passed the house of commons by a majority approaching 50, even if not a single Irishman had cast a vote in the division at all. The home rule bill is down for first consideration on the seventh of this month. It will be passed by large majorities through the house of commons before this year closes, and I am here on behalf of Ireland to ask our friends here to endorse the attitude that Ireland has taken in this matter."

"I am not going, ladies and gentlemen, to criticize, to explain in detail, or even to dwell at all for any length of time upon the features of this, the third home rule bill. It is a better bill, as might easily be shown than either of the other two measures of home rule brought forward by Mr. Gladstone, but I am not going to say more than this, that this bill does not mock us in Ireland by proposing to establish some miserable council that would be unworthy the acceptance of the Irish people."

"This bill establishes in fact and in name an Irish parliament in Dublin, an Irish house of commons, an Irish senate, an Irish cabinet responsible to the house of commons, and the house of commons elected on a broad popular franchise. The powers entrusted to this new parliament are wide, and they will be wider even, according to the terms of the bill, as time goes on."

"Those who would say they are our friends, but who in their hearts are not anxious to see this question settled, might easily raise confusion and doubt in the minds of those who really do love Ireland by picking out points in this bill here and there and saying such points and provisions are not satisfactory. I am here, Mr. Mayor, Mr. Governor, ladies and gentlemen, to take up this position and to ask you to endorse it."

Mr. Redmond then referred to the opposition in Ulster as representing but a small fraction of the people for he said the most substantial and influential of the Protestant people of Belfast are home rulers. The whole opposition in Ireland is represented by seventeen members of parliament against 34 representing the nationalist cause. These misguided people are led by motives of intolerance during back to the battle of the Borne but they are greatly mistaken if they believe that the majority under home rule would revive the spirit of intolerance which they fought for centuries to bury forever. In the Irish parliament he predicted Protestant and Catholic would sit side by side and deal intelligently with public questions for the best interests of their common country.

Sum of $14,000 Raised
Mayor Fitzgerald then in a brief speech made an appeal for funds to help carry on the final battle for home rule and the response was never excelled by any previous meeting in the city of Boston. Committees had been passing through the audience taking up contributions and they began to shout out the names of donors who gave from one dollar up to $1000. Thomas B. Fitzpatrick and family gave $1500, Michael Mayne and wife gave $200 and $100 respectively; scores of Governor Foss contributed $100 as did Mayor Fitzgerald, and it was announced by National President Ryan that Cardinal O'Connell had told Mr. Redmond that he would send a check.

BRUCE-BROWN FATALLY INJURED

Rich Young Sportsman
Victim of an Auto
Accident

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 2.—David Bruce Brown, a wealthy young New York sportsman, lost his life and his mechanical, Tony Scudalari, was fatally injured in an accident on the new Wauwatosa automobile road course yesterday on the eve of the eighth running of the Vanderbilt cup race.

Bruce-Brown was driving his high-powered car 50 miles an hour when the rear left tire blew out. The heavy car swerved into a ditch and a second later men and machine were hurled from it diagonally across the road and into a field. The big racer was converted into a terrible heap of wreckage.

Bruce-Brown's skull was fractured, his left leg was broken and he suffered internal injuries. The top of Scudalari's skull was crushed, his right arm was broken and his body was seriously torn.

Bruce-Brown died at Trinity hospital of hemorrhage of the brain three hours after the accident, having only partially regained consciousness for a few minutes. Surgeons had trepanned his skull on both sides in an unavailing effort to save his life.

Caleb Bragg, Bruce-Brown's close friend, Ralph de Palma, Teddy Tetzlaff and other well known racing automobile drivers stood weeping in the hospital corridor as Bruce-Brown was wheeled from the operating room to a private ward. The hospital authorities withheld news of his death for an hour.

Dispute About Road Width
Bruce-Brown, according to Bragg, met death in a heroic, but futile effort to keep his swerving car on the comparatively narrow roadway after the explosion of the tire.

Bragg declared that the course was dangerously narrow. He asserted that Bruce-Brown could have saved himself under similar conditions on a wider road. Exceptions, however, were taken to this statement by officers of the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' association, under whose auspices the races here are to be held.

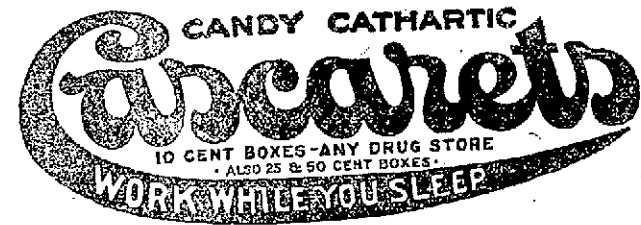

Referring to A. H. Huntington also declaring blame for the accident could not be laid to the course.

The wreck occurred while Bruce-Brown was racing, a few yards behind Teddy Tetzlaff. Bruce-Brown had just driven the fastest lap of the day's running and had set a new record of 53.8 seconds for the 1.5 mile course. He was endeavoring to better this record and had just attempted to pass Tetzlaff when the crash came.

Tetzlaff said he did not hear the tire explode, but missed Bruce-Brown behind him as he slowed down to take the "graveyard" turn at the lower end of the South Pon du Lac road. Tetzlaff at once reported "Brown's out" to patrol judges at the stands. Meanwhile George Clark, one of the other drivers, discovered Bruce-Brown's plight and telephoned for an ambulance from a

MAN TRIED TO KILL HIS WIFE

West Pelham Man Then Blew Himself to Pieces—Tragedy Result of Family Quarrel

WEST PELHAM, Oct. 2.—Followed yesterday afternoon while on her way to Pelham Valley cemetery, where she had planned to put flowers on the grave of her son Robert, Mrs. Junie E. Shaw was overtaken at the house of Sexton John Pace and shot and probably fatally wounded by her husband, George Shaw, who soon afterward blew himself to pieces with dynamite which he placed in a tree stump and set upon.

Mrs. Shaw left her husband Jan. 20, 1911, when he is said to have opposed the marriage of their daughter to H. W. Griffin. Since then Shaw had been looking for his wife, it is said, stating that he believed he could persuade her to return home if he could see her.

Mrs. Shaw, who has been in Hartford, said word to her daughter in Chicago yesterday morning to meet her in Springfield. She planned to visit the cemetery with Mrs. William Barnes of Springfield and her daughter, Mrs. Griffin.

Mrs. Griffin missed the appointment in Springfield, but overtook her mother and Mrs. Barnes on the Pelham road and got into the carriage with them, driving toward the old home.

On the way they met Shaw, who was then driving a work team. No words were exchanged between Shaw and his wife when their teams passed but the man immediately turned about and drove home. There he exchanged his heavy road wagon and pair for a light driving rig and followed in the direction taken by his wife.

The women kept on, but before reaching the cemetery discovered that Mr. Shaw was following them. They drove into the yard of Sexton Pace, intending to get him to put the flowers on the grave, and while Mrs. Dorothy Pace was taking the flowers from the carriage Shaw appeared.

According to the other women the farmer poured out a volley of abuse at his wife and began shooting at her in spite of the prayers of Mrs. Griffin, the daughter.

The horse attached to the carriage containing the women became frightened and ran toward the barn, throwing Mrs. Shaw and the others to the ground.

Shaw, it is claimed, then struck his wife with his fist and leaving her apparently dead, started home on foot. His horse having run to the house of R. Apple, where it was stopped.

In the meantime Mrs. Griffin telephoned for help. Mrs. Shaw was taken into Mr. Pace's house, where she received medical attention.

Shaw went to the site of a saw mill near his home, filled a stump with dynamite, put on it, and exploded the cartridges.

An examination of Mrs. Shaw showed that six bullets had taken effect in her body. Two had made superficial wounds across her abdomen and were removed. Another bullet was lodged in her left arm, one in her right eye, one in her abdomen and the sixth had passed through her right arm.

The woman's chest bone had been injured and her left arm broken, and there were two deep cuts in her forehead.

Some time after the shooting Mrs. Shaw recovered consciousness and asked if her husband had been arrested.

The physician held out little hope for her recovery.

Mrs. Barnes, who was with Mrs. Shaw, was badly bruised by being thrown from the carriage and suffered from the shock of the experience. She was able to return to her home last night. Mrs. Griffin remained with her mother at the Pace home.

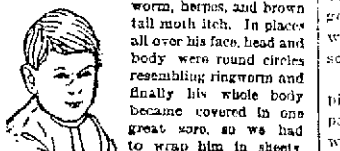

Shaw, who was about 50, was a successful farmer and was also interested in lumbering. His wife is about 45. Shaw is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Griffin of Chicago and Miss Annie Shaw, at home, and two sons, Charles Shaw of Springfield and Arthur Shaw of Amherst.

Mrs. Shaw was not at home at the time of the shooting, having gone to the care of her husband at a hospital.

CHILD COVERED WITH RINGWORM

Herpes and Brown-Tail Moth Itch, Had to Wrap Him in Sheets. Lay in Stupor. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Entirely Well.

29 Knight St., Auburn, Me.—"My son was eight weeks old when he was completely covered with what the physicians call ringworm, herpes, and brown tail moth itch. In places all over his face, head and body were round circles resembling ringworms and finally his whole body became covered in one great sore, so we had to wrap him in sheets. Beneath the surface of the sores was a well of matter. He was in such shape that he was not allowed to be seen by visitors, and scars were upon his body from what was healed up. In the place of one that healed a dozen new ones would spring up. He got to the place where he did not fret much, but rather lay in a stupor. Some one advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I rubbed the soaps and ointment him with a bit of the Cuticura Ointment on. When I did this, the scales washed off of many, leaving the surface a bright red skin. The first time it began to clear up he cried and howled as much as he was entirely well and happy as much as a single ear. Cuticura Soap and Ointment have never failed me." (Signed) Mrs. Addie E. Jackson, Dec. 20, 1911.

WOMAN LOST $115 THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Unknown Thief Took Money From Bag Gave Hearings on Several Stable Petitions

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—An unknown thief, surmised to be a woman, stole $115 from Mrs. Catherine Sullivan, a widow, of 17 South Russell street, West End, yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Sullivan, with her daughter, Margaret, visited a downtown department store to make some small purchases. The sum stolen represented every cent the widow and her daughter had in the world, according to the statement of Mrs. Sullivan at police headquarters last evening.

Mrs. Sullivan works in a salubrious establishment and her daughter works in a restaurant. Since the husband and father died they have striven hard to build up a home.

Mrs. Sullivan had the $115 in a card case which she carried in her handbag, and before entering the store Mrs. Sullivan had occasion to open her bag. She feels sure, so her daughter said, that the case containing the money was there. But on opening the bag she found it empty and could give no clue to the police.

When she discovered her loss Mrs. Sullivan collapsed. She had to be assisted home. Besides the money the card case contained a crucifix.

THE RED SOX MAKE RECORD

Bedient Pitched a Great Game
and Had the Senators
at His Mercy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The final game of the home series between the Senators and Boston was won by the champion Red Sox here yesterday, 12 to 3. Bob Green was Griff's pitching selection, Bedient opposing him. The human slug was way off color and with numerous fumbles and bores behind him, his string of nine in a row was snapped. Aside from gaining this distinction the American league entry in the world's series topped the mark for seasons wins, totaling 144 for the Athletics, winning their 102d game. Bedient looked like a world beater and his showing yesterday makes Stahl begin to consider sending the former Providence boy against the Giants in the world's series. His off Bedient were well centered. He allowed but six hits in the first, fourth and sixth frames. Seven batters were set down on strikes and only two were passed.

Green was in hot water from the start, giving two passes with liberality which developed into runs with the aid of well placed hits and frequent mis-cues by the home folk. He was taken out in the seventh to allow Acker, an Atlanta recruit to bat. The eighth opened with Joe Engel, the youngster who worked yesterday on the firing line and the Sox managed to collect a double and a pair of singles off him. This gave away the lead and was the turning point in the game with the home crowd.

Spoke Passed Five Times

Speaker pitched for the matinee, the Washington spectators perceiving that the Sox were in for a hot day. The Sox, however, managed to avoid a close shave in the third inning. Steve Yerkes made a pair of hair-raising stops at second. The double here in the left garden and Lewis experienced some difficulty making the balls hit into his territory, being a couple of feet that originally would have been out.

The only lead in the Washington standpoint, with the complete stunts of Speaker and Acker. The famous double, however, was not enough to save the Sox from a close shave. The Thud of the Pigskin is Heard in the Land and the Football Season is in Full Swing Once More

With the return of college boys from vacations in Europe, along the golf coast, in the mountains, from section gangs and hay fields, come the call of football, the sound of the foot against pigskin and the re-echoing of the gridiron that will not down. As yet but a humble, this season will in a short time start opposition to the roaring of the world's series fans, and the football will come into its own.

In several sections the heroes of gridiron battles already have overruled the possibilities of the new rules and whether or not the star fullback or lightning-like end will be in condition or perhaps will be able to pass by the faculty restrictions. Summer should be on the way. The cold days and strenuous light of twenty-two trained to the minute athletes are ready for their term on life's little stage. The drama of football is about to be enacted.

Coaches of the bigger eleven already are on the job studiously looking over the new rules handed down by the committee on the important factors of the game. Almost to a man these leaders of the sport predict the greatest year of the game's history, pointing out that the rules have been so reconstructed that there is more uncertainty in the outcome of the conflicts than ever before, and any follower of sport will acknowledge that this uncertainty keeps football in the foreground of all college field activities.

Coincident with the matriculation in the numerous universities of the country has come the call for practice. Veteran players and ambitious youngsters alike will be apportioned some protective apparel, and immediately there will be passing duels, running down kicks, light formations and a long run each day. In the east and far west the practice has been under way for some weeks.

With four downs to make the necessary ten yards, a playing field shorter by thirty feet, the allowance of a forward pass over the goal line and the abolition of the inside kick, there should be scores a-plenty. Light, speedy men, who think as fast as their legs will carry them, should be the material sought by coaches this year.

Open formations, giving rise to plenty of trick plays, will be invented by the Yosts, Starnes and Camps of the country. A new football is to be staged for the education and justification of America this year. Bring it on.

According to eastern experts the new rules fit Yale like a hobble skirt. Footballers and boosters of Old Eli are predicting a championship year. The Yale line will not be heavy, and the back field will be made up of sprinters who have learned to start with the pistol.

Yale coaches, in contrast at Minneapolis last summer, decided that the man who can beat the gun is the man for a back field position this year.

Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania are reckoned as having a big chance to show some things this year. The rules are such a guesswork matter, even more so than when the game was so radically changed a few years ago that the coaches are unwilling to predict what their teams may or may not do. Dartmouth and Cornell as well as the Army and Navy are looked upon as contenders for the eastern title, with every game a fight and each organization a possibility from the first to the last whistle.

The "big nine" has not lined up as yet, but it begins to look more like Chicago than any other eleven in the middle west. Coach A. A. Starnes has showed an unusual ability to teach a team all the new wrinkles in the game, and that in a short time, he has been a stickler for speed rather than for "kick" and because of this it looks as if he has the power, foundation, to bring together a championship eleven.

Minnesota has lost Capron and Dickering, the former going through his desire to invade the professional baseball ranks and the latter never recovering from the shock of eligibility rules last year. What the Gophers will have to present when the first game is started is unknown now. Coach Harry Williams has never failed to put a real team into the field, and it is sure that he will be fighting for the western honors when the last game is played.

Wisconsin will be without the services of many of its veterans who brought that school the championship last year. Keeble Moll, the sensational quarter, is gone and with him probably the most skillful kicker and open field runner in the west. The Badgers, too, will have a new coach to become acquainted with, John H. Richards having resigned after a most successful year. Faculty troubles also threaten to beset the Badger gridiron possibilities, and from these facts it would seem that the Wisconsin squad is to be handicapped.

What Yost will do with his Wolverines should furnish the attractive speculation during the wait for the initial contest. Fielding H. has learned the game of football from A to Z, and it is a sure bet that he already has solved the offensive part of his campaign. He has plenty of speed in his squad but over from last year, and with the proper amount of assistance Michigan should be in the height of its glory in the coming campaign.

Yost's team is now gathered at the Michigan resort for a few days for its annual instructions on the game. Here its instructor will look over his material and begin pounding into its heads the changes of the new rules. Yost has always had a couple of efficient forward pass workers, and if he is as lucky this year he should come out on top in every encounter.

Purdue, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Northwestern and Ohio state are the unknowns entered in the western race, and each has a chance, through the open game now instituted. Purdue follows a team to think well of their chances, and already are boasting of what they will do to Chicago and Minnesota when those teams are met. Keeble Moll will give the "hoiler-makers" all the assistance possible, being signed up in the position of coach by Purdue.

Dr. Hammett, Northwestern's leader, succeeded in rounding into near championship form an eleven last year, and with an even break with the leaders this year, because of the new rules, he should put a team into the field that will make them all sit up and take notice. Dr. Hammett has not sold much about the approaching season, but he is keeping posted as to his men and will be ready for active warfare when the time comes.

Illinois will be forced to put almost an entire new team into the field, and the coaches there are sending out "heav" stories of an uncertain hue. The Illinois do not expect to finish high in this winter. Indiana is not unlike Illinois as to candidates, but the Hoosiers are not willing to acknowledge defeat as yet.

Iowa is looking forward to a season of possibilities never heard of before by the Hawkeye alumni and undergraduates. They have many players of last year's team expected to don suits at the call for attention and are predicting a year of glory for the Iowa institution.

What Ohio state, the newest member of the conference, will do on the gridiron this year is all guess work. The Buckeye team has always made a good impression in its annual game with Michigan and almost invariably takes down the honors in Ohio. Many conference experts predict a fight between Chicago, Minnesota and Ohio state for the premier honors this year.

No Danger of Chance Being Removed as Manager of Cubs

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Frank Chance will manage the Cubs next season and perhaps many more unless bad health causes him to quit. The recent squabble between President Charles Murphy of the Chicago club and Manager Chance caused quite a little stir in baseball circles. It was said that Murphy declared that Chance had resigned and the Chicago team would have a new leader next year. Chance denied this and said he would quit only when tired. The whole truth is that the Cubs team needs Chance more than President Murphy, and there is no danger of the manager being removed. Making a rough guess, the experts would say that there are about 11 other owners who would give Frank an interest in the business just to have him around. Chance is one of the greatest managers baseball has ever produced. He came to Chicago as a player in 1894 and in 1905 succeeded the late Frank Selee as manager of the team. During his managership the Cubs won two world's championships and four league pennants, and Chance became known as one of the greatest first basemen in the game.

DOES NOT WANT A LIBRARY

JOHN W. BRENNAN
Town Clerk

WALTER F. GARLAND

Town of Dracut Refuses Money to Establish One in Harmony Hall, Collinsville

The lower part of Grange hall in Collinsville, Mass., was filled last night to its seating capacity and many people were obliged to stand, the occasion being the second special town meeting held this year relative to the establishment of a branch library in Harmony hall, Collinsville. The project to borrow $500 for the said library for a term of 10 years at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent. per annum, was turned down by the overwhelming majority who were opposed to such action.

The branch library question has been the main topic in Collinsville since the regular town meeting, which was held last March and at which time the citizens voted to appropriate $500 for the establishment of the said library. The library trustees and the directors of the hall, however, could not reach an agreement and finally the affair was brought before a judge of the supreme court. A short time later a special town meeting was called and the citizens voted to rescind their former action. The residents of Collinsville, however, would not let the matter stand and through their attorney they called another special town meeting and the date was set Oct. 1.

The meeting last night was called to order at 8 o'clock by Town Clerk John F. Brennan and article I of the warrant, to elect a moderator, was taken up. There were two candidates for the position, Messrs. George B. Stevens and H. F. Kierman. The voting lasted over an hour and the result of the vote was as follows: Total, 215; necessary for choice, 108; Stevens, 131; Kierman, 125.

Mr. Stevens took the chair and article II was taken up as follows: To hear the report of the board of selectmen on creating street lights as voted by the town under article XVIII of the warrant for the annual town meeting for the year 1912, and set on said report, and take any other action necessary to carry into effect the vote of the town under said article.

Selectman Walter F. Garland, speaking in behalf of the board, said that all the street lights were in excellent condition, and that they were held up on account of the pole locations. Mr. Thomas Seely said he was the instigator of the article, and he wanted to know why there had been such an unusual delay in doing the work. He said that the article was brought up at the annual town meeting for the year 1912, and set on said report, and take any other action necessary to carry into effect the vote of the town under said article.

Article III—To see what action the town will take to investigate the enforcement of the laws relating to the slaughter of cattle and the inspection of cattle and meat. On this article a citizen said he had read an article in the newspapers to the effect that cattle was being brought in the town and according to the article the cattle were not fit to be slaughtered. He said that the article had been read in the newspapers to the effect that cattle was being brought in the town and according to the article the cattle were not fit to be slaughtered.

The Library Matter
The next article was that which called for a vote to borrow $500 for the establishment of a branch library in Harmony hall. A motion that the said amount be borrowed for a term of 10 years at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent. was presented in writing and read by Mr. J. W. Walsh, Collinsville, who was the only person heard on the question. He said, in part: "At the town meeting in March the amount of $500 was voted to establish a branch library in Harmony hall, Collinsville. The motion was later rescinded at a special town meeting owing to a free school house, house in New York and town office. The report was accepted and the meeting adjourned at 10:30 o'clock."

Slit Police Court
Judge Enright had a light job in police court this morning, the docket being composed of only eight offenders, seven of whom were for drunkenness. Timothy Desmond, James McLaughlin and James Aile, all second offenders, were all fined $5 each. Mary McKee, who was also charged with drunkenness, was given a suspended sentence to the state farm with a probation term of six months. Three first offenders were fined $2 each.

Charles Johnson admitted his guilt to a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Mary McKee, by pushing her down a flight of stairs, and a fine of $8 was imposed.

EVENING SCHOOL TEACHERS

transfers of pupils in both primary and grammar grades of the schools, and there has been no general interest recently in the matter of transfers between the Pawtucketville and Bartlett districts, that certain matters of rules and facts should be set forth clearly at this time.

For a period of more than ten years the following quoted passages have been a part of the published rules of the Lowell school committee: He (the superintendent) shall have the direction and control of the transfer of pupils from one school to another of the same grade, and sign the certificate therefor. In doubtful cases he shall consult the appropriate sub-committee. Except for change of residence, changes between grammar schools shall be made only by the full board. (Page 12, Chapter 2, Section 4.)

(All pupils promoted from primary to grammar schools shall be required to attend the grammar schools in the district in which they reside, unless permission to attend elsewhere is granted by vote of the board. Page 30, Chapter 4, Section 9, 1902.)

There is no record of any change in the above quoted provisions from 1902 to the present time.

There is the evidence of two kinds which can establish the right of a pupil to be in a school other than the one in the district in which he resides: first, if he be a primary pupil, a certificate signed by the superintendent of schools; second, if he be a grammar pupil, a vote of the committee recorded in the minutes of the meetings at which the transfer was granted or approved.

The records of the school committee show, after careful scrutiny, votes of this nature on the following dates: Jan. 30th, 1905, June 26th, 1906, Dec. 1st, 1909, Aug. 10th, 1910, Sept. 28th, 1910, Oct. 25th, 1910, Sept. 27th, 1911, Oct. 30th, 1911, Nov. 27th, 1911, Jan. 30th, 1912. There is no record of any transfer during the time covered by the dates which concerned the Bartlett and Pawtucket grammar schools.

The following letter will explain the conditions existing in the Bartlett school early in the year 1911, less than two years ago.

(Copy)
Office of the Superintendent of Schools,
Lowell, Mass., Feb. 20, 1911.
To the City Council of the City of Lowell.

Gentlemen: I am directed by the school committee to report to you that the upper grades of the Bartlett school are badly overcrowded, and to ask you, as a means of relief, to purchase or lease a building for use as school rooms in the third floor of the Bartlett school house.

Respectfully reported,
Arthur K. Whitcomb,
Secretary of the School Committee.
A true copy attested,
Stephen Flynn, City Clerk.

The following transcript from the records of meetings of the committee on lands and buildings will furnish further important information:
April 6, 1911.
"A communication from Arthur K. Whitcomb, secretary school committee, stating that upper grades of Bartlett school are badly overcrowded and asking that two rooms be partitioned off from the third floor, was read."

Whitcomb appeared before the committee and stated that some relief must be provided at the Bartlett school before long and that the only other kind of relief that could be given is the opening of the school street building. The school committee believe it is advantageous to use a single building instead of two separate ones. Opening the school street house will mean, of course, additional expense. My own opinion agrees with that of the school committee.

"The chairman Mr. Whitcomb stated that there are perhaps seventy-five pupils from Pawtucketville attending the Bartlett school. This is allowed by vote of the full school committee and not by the principal of the school. Sub-committee sometimes argue such matters, but it is with the sanction of the board. One room at the Pawtucketville school is unoccupied."

"On motion of Councilman Royal, it was voted to recommend to the city council that the request of the school committee relating to additional rooms at the Bartlett school be approved."

"On motion of Councilman Royal, it was voted to recommend to the city council for Bartlett school extra rooms, for which $500 was estimated."

Attest: Wm. P. McCarthy,
Asst. City Clerk.

The number of pupils in the Bartlett school in February, 1911, was 651. In September, 1911, the number was 659. In February of the present year the number was 639.

"During the entire school year, which closed in June, a class was maintained, as a regular class of the school, in one of the corridors. Such crowding as existed in February, 1911, when relief was denied by the city government on the ground that the school was attempting to provide for pupils outside its proper province, still existed in one place or another throughout the year ending last June."

Even now, when the school has been relieved, through enforcement of the rule governing school districts, of a large number of pupils from another school district, a class is still maintained in a corridor.

Considering all these facts, the school committee believe that the proper administration of the school department requires that the rules governing school attendance should be enforced in the Bartlett and Pawtucketville districts.

Mr. Rogers Opposed
"Eighty-five Pawtucketville children," said Mr. Rogers, "have been attending the Bartlett school; their attendance was procured by their parents in entirely good faith and presumably on the assumption that all preliminary had been complied with by the school committee and the superintendent of schools. Whether or not they were warranted in this assumption and admitting for the sake of argument the wisdom of continuing the previously existing method, I believe it unwarrantable and undesirable to tear these 85 children away from their previous schoolhouse and their established school friendships and associations."

Dr. Bagley Replies
Dr. Bagley said that the petition of the Pawtucketville people was based on sentiment only, and the practical side of the question should be considered first. Residents of the Bartlett school district, he said, had been protesting against half sessions.

had been done, it was to the residents of Pawtucketville, whose children had been snubbed because they did not have the necessary influence to send them to the Bartlett school. He also called attention to the fact that at the hearing, not one instance was brought out that would imply that there was anything wrong with the Pawtucketville school. He said he hoped the board would adopt the report, and that the rules would be enforced, and that every child in the Pawtucketville district would attend the school, or the trustee officer would know why.

The report was adopted, four to one, Mr. Rogers voting against.

The Superintendent's Salary
Mr. Rogers was opposed to any advance in the salary of the superintendent of schools at this time. "I hesitate to vote on that," he said, "and I do not mean any reflection on our superintendent. But it seems to me unusual in a business way, for a man to be granted a larger salary at the very beginning of his tenure."

Dr. Bagley said he would not hesitate to vote for the increase for the superintendent, but he believed the salary should be increased in a business way, for a man to be granted a larger salary at the very beginning of his tenure.

Dr. O'Connor said that the town of Reading paid the superintendent of schools $3000 and Lawrence paid $3500. He said that Newton paid its superintendent of schools either four or five thousand dollars a year and he allowed that Lowell would not find it a great hardship to pay $3300.

Mr. Rogers remarked that New Bedford and Lynn paid only $3000 and Chairman Farrington begged to correct Mr. Rogers' statement. He said that New Bedford paid more than $3000 and Mr. Rogers said he meant Brockton instead of New Bedford.

Dr. Bagley expressed his confidence in Mr. Kelley and suggested that superintendents in other cities who were receiving $3000 were probably not earning more, "but we have a good man on the job in Lowell," he said.

"If the city of Lawrence can afford to pay $5500, any objection here to an increase in the salary of our superintendent is nothing short of ridiculous," said Dr. O'Connor.

Chairman Farrington said he would favor the increase because he believed that the superintendent of schools should be paid more than any of his subordinates. "The superintendent ought not to be on the same basis as the head master of the high school," he said. The vote was then taken and it was four to one in favor of the increase, Mr. Rogers voting "no."

Duties of Superintendent
Mr. Rogers, chairman of the committee on lands and buildings, presented a draft of the chapter relating to the duties of the new superintendent of schools and it was adopted.

A list of janitors for the evening school was adopted on a unanimous vote.

Girls' Battalion Regulations
Mr. Rogers for the committee on rules presented a communication referring to the regulations for the girls' battalion in the high school. He thought it properly belonged to Dr. O'Connor as sub-committee for the high school, and handed it to the doctor, who read it. It provides that the officers shall be selected from the third and fourth year girls, of the graduating class, and defines their qualifications in scholarship, attendance and deportment, the selections to be made by a competitive drill, the judges to be the teachers in charge and two of the teachers of the school.

The rules as read by Dr. O'Connor are as follows:
Calisthenic drills and physical exercises are prescribed for all girls in the high school during the first three years of the course, unless excused for reasons satisfactory to the teacher in charge, and the school physician. Drill for the fourth year is voluntary.

Drill for the first year girls shall be in small squads and shall consist of marching, free-arm movements and games.

Drill for second year girls shall consist of exercises with wand or dumbbells, and this group shall be known as the second battalion of girls.

Drill for third and fourth year girls shall consist of exercises with Indian clubs, and this group shall be known as the first battalion of girls.

Each battalion shall be divided into four companies. The officer of each battalion shall be a major (in command), an adjutant (to keep the attendance), a captain and two lieutenants for each company.

The officers will be selected from the third and fourth year girls of the graduating class. Only those girls will be eligible who have completed satisfactorily three full studies for each year in the school, whose attendance record has not fallen below 90 per cent. during their membership in the school, and who are not delinquent in department.

The officers will be selected from the above list by competitive drill. Two other teachers to be selected by the superintendent of schools.

Note: (These rules have been drafted from suggestions offered by Mr. Irish, principal of the High school, and Mr. Rogers also said that this report of the committee on evening schools is a compilation from various papers and sources, made during the past three hours in the other room, and he had not had an opportunity to compare it with the old list. He should guess, however, that not over one-half and probably not very much over one-third of the old teachers have been retained. He had not heard that any of those teachers were dropped because they were incompetent.

Dr. Bagley thought Mr. Rogers had no right to make a statement of that kind. "Does he know whether they are competent or incompetent?" he asked. Mr. Rogers said that he did not know. "Do you claim they are incompetent?" he asked.

Dr. Bagley: "I claim that those I put there are more competent than those who have been dispensed with." Mr. Rogers said that he could prove that those who have been dropped are more competent than those who have been retained, without their having demonstrated their competence, you are a very capable diagnostician."

The report was adopted.

Resignation Was Accepted
The superintendent presented the resignation of Mrs. Josephine Dominey of the Greenhalge school, and it was accepted with a vote of thanks for faithful and competent service.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS

Have Formed a Labor Union and May Strike Later—Officers Chosen at the Meeting Held Last Evening

Telephone Operators' union, sub-local No. 1, of 635, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, is the most newly formed union in the city of Lowell. The charter arrived and was presented to the members last evening, and the permanent officers were elected as follows: President, Louis Loupre; vice president, Mary C. Jewett; recording secretary, Alice Donnelly; financial secretary, Helen Moran; treasurer, Ruth Flint; forewoman, Susan O'Keefe.

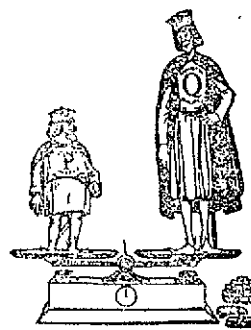

This new local union was organized by two members of the Boston local, assisted by the organizing committee of the Trades and Labor council, and also the officers of local 323. It is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and last night it was voted to send seven delegates to the Trades and Labor council and they will attend the meeting on Thursday evening.

Under conditions that are most satisfactory, this new union has its beginning and a majority of the girls employed in the local offices are on the membership roll. It is hoped and expected that before long all employees in that branch in Lowell will become members.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S PRANKS

Col. Roosevelt is getting more "sassy" than usual in his campaign utterances. He is bordering upon the vulgar in some of his epithets hurled at his opponents. He still persists in calling the republicans who nominated Taft at Chicago a band of thieves and Taft himself the receiver of stolen goods.

At a meeting in Joplin, Mo., where a large Taft banner was displayed Col. Roosevelt said:

"Any man who suspects the receiver of stolen goods stands on a level with the receiver of stolen goods. He is a dishonest man and is not to be associated with honest men."

As the train drew out at Joplin, Mo., where this language was used, Col. Roosevelt shouted to his followers, "Good bye, honest men."

At Springfield, Ill., Col. Roosevelt noticed some Taft badges of a yellow color, whereupon he remarked: "The Taft badges I see here are of the appropriate color of yellow. There never was a yellow performance than that of the republican managers at the Chicago convention. The man who puts on a show that he has a yellow streak somewhere."

In his speech at Joplin he attacked the republican national committee, saying "it consisted of men next to them shady." "All of them," shouted a man in the crowd, and Roosevelt replied: "There were just about enough of the other kind to save Sodom and Gomorrah."

Such epithets as these are frequently used by Col. Roosevelt in his tour of the country but neither his disparaging nor his bitterness in charging the republicans with doing him or the nomination is doing him any good for apparently he is growing politically weaker from day to day. The sensible people of the country can see no excuse or justification for the Roosevelt candidacy, nor can they see why they should place in power a man who has proved himself to be such a blatant and unscrupulous demagogue.

THE STATE PRIMARIES

The Lynn News is very pessimistic in regard to the state primaries on account of the small vote cast. There were many causes for the light vote, however, among these being the split in the republican party that kept many away from the polls. The people will gradually come to realize the great importance of the primaries and to make the most of them for the selection of the best candidates.

The Lynn paper says:

"We heard during the discussion regarding the passage of the primary law that such a change in our campaign methods was necessary because it would give a poor man a chance to secure office. A new candidate if it had the opposite would be the case, and their arguments appear to have been justified."

We confess that if such be the result in Lynn it is just the opposite of what has taken place in Lowell and most other cities. The masses have certainly no advantage in the primaries and this is proved by the fact that the candidates are chosen by the business men and more identified with the small taxpayers than the candidates selected by the old system. The poor man will make a noise to house canvass which the business man either will not or cannot do. The voters are becoming accustomed to this method of being sought out and "solicited" by the candidates and some of them refuse to vote for any candidate who did not think it worth while to seek them out. The state primary is but in its infancy in this state and should not be condemned thus early even though in any city or any number of cities the results were regarded as unsatisfactory.

LOWELL TO BE CONGRATULATED

The Lowell men are to be congratulated upon having no strike at the present time. The appeal of the L. W. W. leaders goes unheeded in Lowell because a great preponderance of our operatives are sensible and independent men and women who cannot be led into any crazy action by irresponsible leaders. The women operatives of Lawrence and many of those who agreed to the recent riot are simple-minded people who were led to violence by the harangues of professional leaders whose business it is to go from place to place to stir up labor troubles and organize strikes. Lowell may have her troubles, but they do not lie in the line of giving heed to irresponsible leaders who aim to precipitate a social revolution, without the proper system and apply the scientific doctrine to the present order of things in this country.

The Lowell men should appreciate the fact that with the exception of a very small fraction made up mostly of one nationality, all the operatives are opposed to the radical action of the L. W. W. Such operatives deserve better news than those who are ready to declare a strike without cause simply because they are so easily advised by irresponsible leaders.

TALK OF INTERVENTION

The people who talk of intervention by the United States in Mexico to stop the warring factions there, suggest a very foolish and what might prove in the long run a very disastrous course. Some people think such a move would help to rehabilitate the shattered political fortunes of President Taft, but on the contrary, it would brand him as guilty of taking a very dangerous step while on the threshold ready to give up the idea of office to his successor. When the Mexicans are tired of fighting they will stop and it would be futile for the United States to try to have them subside a minute sooner. The hand of another Diaz is required in Mexico. They have not yet learned how to exercise their individual rights under republican government.

KILLING MILITARY OFFICERS

The various nations that have taken to training aviators are sending out forces of more or less efficient men. The United States has just as many in this respect but very dangerous experimentation as any other nation. The present aeroplane may be used in special cases to view a fort or battle position, but in such cases the aviator takes his life in his hands. The inventors should equip the aeroplane with some safety appliances that will keep it in the air when the motor stops. The dirigible balloon has the element of safety but it has also to be perfected before it can be successfully applied to military purposes.

THE SCHOOL CONTROVERSY

In the Pawtucket school matter the school board in ordering the children from the Barrett school adopted the only practical course and the one that should have been favored long ago. The members who in the past privately favored this action from the Pawtucket school did a very unwise thing. Some children may be seriously disconcerted by the sudden change but in the school is weak at any point it is the duty of the school board to have the proper remedy applied.

Humphrey O'Sullivan promises to elect to congress to look after the industrial conditions of every one of the thirty-two towns and cities in the district. He says he does not seek the office for the salary attached, but for the opportunity to work for the industrial interests of the people. This is a picturesque notion, and, as Mr. O'Sullivan says, nobody has any reason to doubt his statement.

The L. W. W. may feel disposed to interfere with the trial of John A. Scales should remember that this is not Virginia. The court at Salem can neither be coerced nor intimidated.

POLITICS! POLITICS!

Seen and Heard

Call, crust, brass, nerve or what other word one uses in speaking of these qualities, is, of all persons, the distinguishing trait of the typical ward politician. To a man of his cast little indeed is sacred. Every thought is centered on vote-getting and every circumstance is taken advantage of that will contribute to this end. At times, however, his efforts to ingratiate himself into the good graces of likely supporters are of such a nature as to cause one to smile both at his effrontery and at the amusing effect this has upon those whose good will he is endeavoring to secure.

A striking instance of the brazenness with which one of these "pols" utterly indifferent to the propriety of time and place, thrust his attentions on to a stranger whom he figured had a vote, was told me by a friend the other day. A wedding party, according to the story, had after the conclusion of the marriage ceremony, just stepped outside the door of the church. The newly-weds led the party. The bride looked lovely and the groom, from his manner, evidently was walking on air. The limousine stood at the curb with its door open. Through this the groom was just assisting his bride when he felt a friendly touch on his shoulder. Turning, he was met by the outstretched hand of a neatly dressed stranger. "Good luck, old man," was the salutation of this gentleman, "good luck; hope you'll be even happier when you celebrate your golden wedding." Another hearty handshake. "Good bye, friend, and pleasant journey. Say, when you get back don't forget Jim Smith of ward four at the primaries."

It is very interesting to note how what is being played in this city, especially among the French speaking people. During the cold season whist clubs are formed and the favorite game is enjoyed throughout the winter. The members of the different clubs meeting on an average of once a week at the homes, one night at one place and so on. At the close of the season suitable prizes are awarded the winners and at every meeting refreshments are served and an entertainment program provided. One of these reunions was held Monday night at the home of Mr. Narcisse Gaudin in Little Avenue, and of course, whist was the feature. Several tables were put at the disposal of the players, who by the way, were all men folks, and the game was soon started. At one table Messrs. Avin Desrosiers and Alphonse Branchaud, who played as partners, while their opponents were Messrs. Pierre A. Brousseau and Donat Paquette. There were three consecutive hands played and it is claimed that Messrs. Brousseau and Paquette took in every trick, including a total of 21 points much to the discomfort of the other players who were "jolted" by other members of the club. It was also mentioned that a whist school would soon be started and the first pupils to register would be Messrs. Desrosiers and Branchaud.

Considerable has been said about the character of Middlesex street. Some people would lead you to believe that it was one of the worst thoroughfares in the city. But an incident happened on Middlesex street one night last week that goes to show that it is not such a terrible place after all. A well known resident with his wife and daughter returned home on a train from Boston which arrived in Lowell at about 6 o'clock. The party had considerable baggage with them, and the gentleman feeling it had occasion to visit a drug store in the vicinity of the depot. He left his dress suit case in the doorway of the Merrimack River Savings bank with his wife and daughter, who were standing there. When he returned, in the hurry to get on the electric car which was coming along, they boarded the car forgetting all about the dress suit case. Some time after reaching home it was discovered that the suit case was missing, and at once search was made for it. The next day in the direction of the depot was taken, and much to the surprise of the owner there was the dress suit case in the doorway of the bank just where he had left it two hours before. Hundreds of people passed this spot within the two hours and yet nobody touched the suit case. This speaks well for the street, the people, and the city.

THE KISS

Back to the days of youth again. To the mossy green of the woodland fern. The days of the dreams of things to come. The building of castles, massive, tall, with intricate and rampart walls. No firmer they then snider's lace. And never on earth had they a place. The maid's dreams had wandered here. No thought of shadows, none of fear, A rose in her hair, the flush of love. The knight of her heart was by her side. No truer than he in the whole world. He whispered the words in her waiting ear. The murmur of love, the soft, yet clear. And the heart of the maid went pit-a-pat. As she said this, and he said that. While under a low-spreading ivy vine. They heard the sound of the distant kine. And lo!—Oh, bold, Oh, lost was he! More daring a youth than the breezes free. For the words were said, the kiss was given. The world grew still and time was flown. Time was given, for these lovers two. Were back in the days when hearts were true. And a hundred years seemed speeding away. When his met lips on a summer's day. In the days of youth—sweet youth, when the green is green in the woodland fern. And where is the maid or dreaming now. And the silky hair and soft surprise. When the lover drank from the cup of bliss. A neck breasted with a Heaven's kiss? And where is the youth so brave and bold. Who planned to have and hoped to hold. Whose heart was filled with the song of love. More true, thought he, than the blue. The brook still winds its trickling way. While the tree-tops slings his tremulous spray. And the bark soars high, still happy he. And the mocking-bird taps the tallest tree. The old rock stands—'tis just as strong. As it was in the day of the lover's song. And the maid's away, away, away—Away with a youth of another day. A youth as tall, as brave, as bold. As the first who sighed the story old. And the so-called boy who shyly pressed. A kiss on the lips of the maiden blest—The faithful star with another maid. Who never knew of the game he played.

GOV. ARAM J. POTHIER

To be Republican Candidate Once More

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 2.—The executive committee of the republican state central committee met yesterday and made up the state ticket.

Gov. Aram J. Pothier of Woonsocket was induced to head the ticket for the 12th consecutive time. Col. Frank W. Plimacher favored the nomination of Senator L. Livingston. Beedman of Newport, but the Pothier sentiment was so strong that he withdrew his candidature.

This will make the state ticket precisely what it was a year ago, with the exception that Ex-Senator Roswell B. Boudard of Middletown is to be the candidate for lieutenant governor.

WOMAN USED THE LASH

On Young Man She Says Slandered Her

PLYMOUTH, Oct. 2.—Some excitement prevails here over the public horsewhipping administered a few evenings ago by Mrs. Atherton H. Smith, wife of the proprietor of the Pilgrim garage, to Thomas Caswell, a young clerk at Moore Bros' store, near the foot of High street. Mrs. Smith declares that she had been slandered by the young man, and seeing no other redress, took the matter in her own hands.

Caswell's family and Mrs. Smith's are connected by marriage, her brother having recently married a sister of the young man. Mrs. Smith says that she has frequently demanded an explanation, but each time has received only insults. Members of her family, she claims, have likewise endeavored to solve mysterious messages which have reached her. The latter part of the week she went to a local harness maker and secured a whip. She met Caswell near the foot of High street. Mrs. Smith claims that she asked for an apology, and upon his direct refusal, whipped him until the weapon was broken.

Mrs. Smith is but a slip of a woman and weighs only about 100 pounds. She is the daughter of Mrs. Martha McNeve, a widow and mother of a large family. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Doris M. McNeve, a telegraph operator at the local office. She met Atherton H. Smith, a native of Massachusetts and former resident of Breckton, while he was a chauffeur for one of the well known summer residents. The courtship resulted in a trip to New York, where they were married, and returning of this town, it was several months before even their intimate friends learned their secret.

BLAZE IN A TENEMENT

Threatened Destruction of Opera House

A lively fire broke out in a house owned by S. N. Proctor in the rear of 373 Central street early this forenoon and it was only the prompt arrival of the firemen that saved the house from complete destruction. A woman who occupied the tenement had a narrow escape from being asphyxiated by the thick smoke which quickly filled the apartments. A large crowd of people was brought on the scene of the fire, for shortly after the alarm was sounded a report flashed through the city that the Opera House was afire and later that a machine place in the vicinity was burning.

The tenement, which is on the second floor of the building is occupied by a Portuguese family by the name of Manuel Quilt. At about 7:40 o'clock this morning Mrs. Quilt who was busy in her kitchen, left her work and went into the shed adjoining the kitchen. When she opened the door leading to the shed, she saw at a glance that the entire room was afire. In opening the door it caused a draft and the smoke which blew into the kitchen nearly suffocated the woman. The latter, nearly blinded by the smoke, after considerable trouble managed to get out of the room and she sent a young man to pull in the alarm from box 52.

A few minutes later the members of the fire department arrived on the scene which then seemed like a conflagration and lines of hose were immediately laid and set to work. A considerable quantity of water was poured into the shed through a skylight on the roof, while other men were using the chemical extinguisher to advantage in the kitchen where the four walls and ceiling were blazing rapidly. Inasmuch as the building is of wood and rather old, the fire was making great headway when the firemen arrived. The blaze, however, was extinguished in a short time, but the damage of the fire was such that it was thought better to leave a member of the department in the building, and this proved to be a wise move, for at about 8:30 o'clock the fire broke out again in the kitchen of the first floor, where all sorts of inflammable material had been stored. The fireman with the aid of his extinguisher quenched the blaze, before any further damage was caused. The firemen dictated themselves upon keeping the blaze from spreading to the Opera House.

The inside of the shed as well as the kitchen was entirely destroyed and the damage is estimated at approximately $700, including the building and furniture.

Telephone Alarm
At 7:45 this forenoon a portion of the fire department was summoned by telephone to the property of Mrs. M. McKeon at 272 Chelmsford street, where a slight chimney fire was in progress. There was no damage.
